HIPPOBOOKS

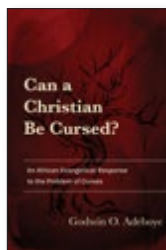

CAN A CHRISTIAN BE CURSED?

An African Evangelical Response to the Problem of Curses

Adeboye, Godwin O.

The belief in curses is widespread in Africa, impacting the lived reality of both Christians and non-Christians alike. In this book, Godwin Adeboye provides practical, biblical, and contextual guidelines for addressing the African conception of cursing, and for ministering to the fear and confusion such cursing elicits. This is an excellent resource to empower believers to confront their fear of curses equipped with the truth of Scripture.

2023, HippoBooks, 9781839738265, Paperback, 220 pages £8.00

DRUMS OF REDEMPTION

A New Testament Theology for Africa

Sarma, Bitrus A.

Across the African continent, nations are grappling with issues of genocide, terrorism, political instability, ethnic division, abject poverty, environmental degradation, and the rapid erosion of community life and values. Addressing every book of the New Testament, Drums of Redemption is contextually relevant, biblically rooted, and radically hope-filled as it casts a vision for how Christ's redemptive mission can be experienced in every area of life.

ENDANGERED MORAL VALUES

Agang, Sunday Bobai

The erosion of moral values on a global scale has left nations vulnerable to greed, power, and violence as the shaping forces of culture. In the absence of an ethical foundation, corruption reverberates through public life, destabilizing countries and undermining human flourishing. Examining the many challenges facing Nigeria in the twenty-first century, Dr. Agang suggests that his homeland is experiencing just such a crisis – one rooted not in religion, economics, or politics but rather an eroding moral foundation.

2022, HippoBooks, 9781839732102, Paperback, 140 pages £6.00

VERNACULAR BIBLES IN AFRICA THROUGH EUROPEAN EYES

Nyirenda, Misheck

This study provides detailed historical accounts of the origins of two of Africa's most revered vernacular Bibles: the Efik Bible of modern-day Nigeria and the Nyanja Bible of Southern Africa. Issuing a powerful warning for those involved in the vast ongoing task of translating Scripture into the world's vernacular languages, Nyirenda reminds us that we must first reckon with our social, cultural and historical embeddedness when seeking to communicate gospel truth across linguistic or cultural barriers.

2023, HippoBooks, 9781839732522, Paperback, 190 pages £7.50

LANGHAM MONOGRAPHS

A CROSS-CULTURAL CONCEPTUAL STUDY OF THE EMOTION OF קצף IN THE HEBREW BIBLE AND THE FOLK THEORY OF THE EMOTION OF NGOŌ IN THE KIKAMBA LANGUAGE

Mutuku, George

In this study, Dr. George Mutuku brings to life a deeper understanding of emotion, specifically anger, in the Hebrew Bible. Utilizing frame semantics and undertaking a comparative study of קצף and ngōō as conceptualized in Hebrew and Akamba cultures, respectively, Mutuku argues that ngōō would have been the best rendering for the Hebrew concept קצף in the Kikamba Bible.

2023, Langham Monographs, 9781839732386, Paperback, 274 pages £11.00

A CRY FOR HELP

A Missiological Reflection on Violent Response to Religious Tension in Northern Nigeria

Dadang, Mipo E.

With tensions between Christians and non-Christians on the rise in many areas of the world, the question of how the church is to respond to religious violence is a pressing one, encompassing issues of ecclesiology, theology, and missiology. Dr. Dadang explores the contextual realities that have led some believers in Northern Nigeria to embrace violence as a justifiable response to persecution.

2022, Langham Monographs, 9781839735721, Paperback, 182 pages £8.00

BAPTISM AS AN EVENT OF TAKING RESPONSIBILITY

A New Reading of Romans 5:12 to 6:23

Batibuka, Pontien Ndagijimana

For those whose context is rich with cultural and communal rites of passage, how does the church ensure that baptism is not just another ritual, but is understood to be a deliberate participation of a Christian in an event that brings decisive change into the new life that Christ brings? In this study, Dr. Batibuka explores afresh Paul's teaching on baptism demonstrating that it encompasses both divine intervention and human action, rather than simply being about an action of Christ.

2022, Langham Monographs, 9781839732348, Paperback, 272 pages £11.00

BYANG KATO

The Life and Legacy of Africa's Pioneer Evangelical Theologian

Foday-Khabenje, Aiah Dorkuh

In this in-depth study of the legacy of Byang Kato, Dr. Foday-Khabenje traces his extraordinary life from a boyhood immersed in African traditional religion to his conversion to Christianity as a young man, his global leadership within the evangelical church, and the long-lasting impact of his prophetic voice. In an age that seeks to de-emphasize the uniqueness of Christ, Kato's testimony of the radical transformation offered by authentic biblical Christianity is good news for us all.

2023, Langham Monographs, 9781839736674, Paperback, 376 pages £14.50

THE CROSS OR PROSPERITY GOSPEL

Persecution and Martyrdom in the Early Church

Boamah, Kwaku

Are Christians meant to experience suffering? Christ is risen, the kingdom of heaven is at hand, yet sickness, poverty, and persecution continue to be daily realities for Christians around the world. In this study of martyrdom and persecution in the early church, Rev. Dr. Boamah reminds us that there is no Christianity without a cross and that suffering has played a prominent role in church theology and tradition since the time of Christ.

2022, Langham Monographs, 9781839735356, Paperback, 214 pages £10.00

DEVELOPMENT AS PEACE

Adegbile, Wole

The colonial definition of development has not served Africa well. While Western assessments have generally revolved around a nation's GDP, infrastructure, and the like, African cultures, and the Yoruba people in particular, have traditionally measured development in relation to the amount of peace experienced in a society and the wellbeing of its people. In this study, Dr. Adegbile examines the political, theological, and cultural contexts of contemporary development activity in Africa, including the impact of modernization theory on African nation-states.

2023, Langham Monographs, 9781839736452, Paperback, 226 pages £10.50

DIGITAL MEDIA AND YOUTH DISCIPLESHIP

Pitfalls and Promise

Huong Nam, Vo

Today's youth grow up immersed in digital technology. This presents a unique challenge to the church as it seeks to faithfully make disciples of the next generation. What does it look like – theologically and practically – to minister contextually to those whose lives are permeated by social media and digital culture? In this in-depth study, Dr. Vo Huong Nam offers both social and theological insight into the task of discipling youth in the digital age.

2023, Langham Monographs, 9781839736636, Paperback, 290 pages £12.50

EVIDENCE FOR THE CRUCIFIXION AND RESURRECTION OF JESUS CHRIST EXAMINED THROUGH ISLAMIC LAW

Madanat, Suheil

In this study, Dr. Madanat tests evidence for the crucifixion and resurrection against Islam's fixed theocratic law of Sharia. Offering an overview of the evolution and constitution of Islamic law, Dr. Madanat examines how eyewitness testimonies and confessions in the New Testament hold up against Islam's strict standards for evidence. This book engages with Islam and its sacred texts seriously and with respect, providing a powerful resource for those interested in apologetics and comparative religion.

A FREE CHURCH IN A FREE STATE

The Possibilities of Abraham Kuyper's Ecclesiology for Japanese Evangelical Christians

Harefa, Surya

How does Christ call his people to engage the societies, cultures, and politics of the nations they call home? Bridging cultures and time periods, Dr. Surya Harefa brings Abraham's Kuyper's ecclesiology to bear on questions of Japanese Christian engagement within the political sphere. Harefa offers a contextually robust exploration of evangelical Japanese approaches to ecclesiology and political involvement.

HONOR AND SHAME IN 1 SAMUEL 1–7

Kang, Bin

For many cultures throughout history, honor and shame have been foundational concepts for understanding and evaluating reality. In this study of the first seven chapters of 1 Samuel, Dr. Bin Kang establishes that ancient Israel was such a culture. He demonstrates the narrator's intentional juxtaposition of honor and shame at the beginning of Samuel's narrative, and its role in establishing a system of judgement for evaluating Israel's leaders throughout the rest of 1 and 2 Samuel.

2022, Langham Monographs, 9781839736032, Paperback, 284 pages £11.00

POST-MORTEM DIVINE RETRIBUTION

A Study in the Hebrew Bible and Select Second Temple Jewish Literature Compared with Aspects of Divine Retribution in Deuteronomy

Rotokha, Angukali

While a Christian understanding of divine judgement tends to focus on the afterlife, the Hebrew Bible is far more concerned with divine retribution as something experienced in this life. Yet if the same God enacts both, should there not be significant continuity between biblical accounts of divine retribution, whether experienced in this world or the hereafter? In this study, Dr. Angukali Rotokha provides an overview of Old Testament and Second Temple sources that express conceptions of post-mortem judgement.

PAUL'S SUFFERING AND WEAKNESS IN 2 CORINTHIANS

Reading from a Disability Perspective

Pakhuongte, Royal L.

Missionary, theologian, and church leader, the apostle Paul is one of the giants of the Christian faith. He is also, Dr. Royal L. Pakhuongte suggests, a person who suffered from disability. Combining a disability perspective with rhetorical and sociological criticism, Pakhuongte explores 2 Corinthians through the lens of a disability hermeneutic.

PREDICTIVE FACTORS FOR TRANSFORMATIVE LEARNING WITHIN ACTEA-RELATED THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTIONS IN ETHIOPIA

Alemu, Alemseged K.

While most studies on the nature of transformative learning have been conducted from a Western perspective, Dr. Alemseged K. Alemu explores the concept within an African context. Utilizing a mixed-methods approach, his study sheds light on effective educational practices within higher-level institutions, identifying four factors associated with holistic transformation and the role instructional strategy and interpersonal relationships play in fostering those elements.

RELIGION, LEADERSHIP AND DEVELOPMENT

A Sustainable Transformational Approach

Agbiji, Obaji

Drawing on empirical research and utilizing an interdisciplinary approach that engages both development and theology, this study explores the church's role – both spiritual and pragmatic – in facilitating societal transformation in African countries, specifically Nigeria. Highlighting the importance of ecclesiastical leadership in mobilizing religious communities to partner with sociopolitical and economic institutions, Dr. Obaji Agbiji argues for a development framework that recognizes religious practitioners as indispensable partners in the quest for societal transformation.

SEEING AND SHOWING THE UNSEEN

Using Cognitive Linguistics in Preaching Images and Metaphors

Szumorek, Adam

Exploring how the God of Scripture reveals himself through metaphor and imagery, Dr. Adam Szumorek utilizes Cognitive Linguistics to help students, teachers, and preachers understand how meaning is communicated in Scripture and conceptualized within the human brain. He provides a theological framework for applying Cognitive Linguistics in biblical exegesis, demonstrating its value in aiding our understanding of biblical texts and in communicating that understanding to others through sermons that speak to people's minds, hearts, and imaginations.

"SILENCE" IN TRANSLATION

1 Corinthians 14:34–35 in Myanmar and the Development of a Critical Contextual Hermeneutic

Sui Hluan, Anna

The role of women in the church has long been a contentious topic for Christians. In this groundbreaking study, Dr. Anna Sui Hluan critically examines the understanding of "silence" within the Myanmar context, specifically as it impacts the church's interpretation of 1 Corinthians 14:34–35. This interdisciplinary study combines cultural and linguistic awareness, a critical analysis of hermeneutics, and a deep commitment to Scripture as the foundation for faith and life.

SPIRIT-EMPOWERED WITNESS

A Lukan Theology of Preaching

Gambo, David N.

The witness of Jesus Christ and his disciples was accompanied by mighty words and mighty works. Drawing on the Gospel of Luke and the Acts of the Apostles, Dr. Gambo demonstrates that this power came from the anointing of the Holy Spirit, without which neither Jesus nor his disciples would have been able to fulfil their ministry. Gambo utilizes an exegetical analysis to develop a theology of Spirit-empowered preaching – preaching characterized by Spirit-words and Spirit-works.

1 & 2 KINGS

A Pastoral and Contextual Commentary

Jeyaraj, Jesudason Baskar

1 & 2 Kings detail the engagements between priests and prophets, prophets and kings, and royal court and military commanders on issues such as justice, power, and seeking divine and human guidance in times of war and peace. The narratives in these books tell of God's activities in the history of the Israelites fulfilling his promises and prophecies. At the same time, they draw our attention to the need to obey God's laws and commandments. This commentary challenges us to understand the need for healthy interactions and dialogues between religion and politics as well as offering key insights on leadership, governance, worship, and helping those in need.

VERNACULAR BIBLES IN AFRICA THROUGH EUROPEAN EYES

MISHECK NYIRENDA

September 2023 | 9781839732522

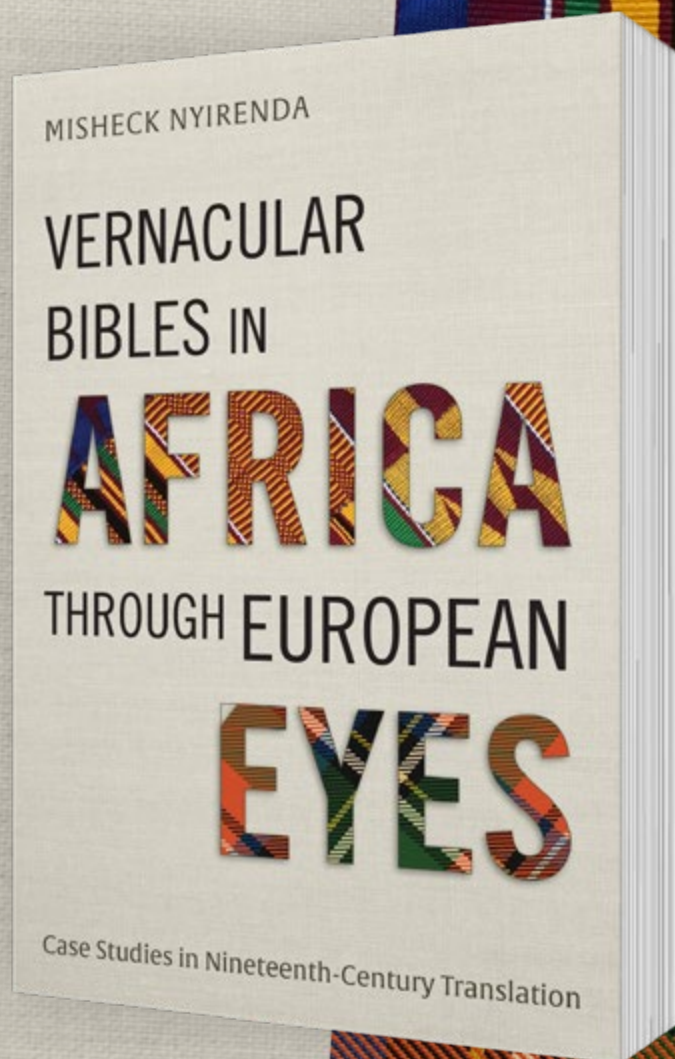

190 pages | £7.50

Misheck Nyirenda has put together a most fascinating book: history, perspective, ideology and contemporary scholarship – all blended together. His frank and incisive approach to the history, theory, practice and politics of Bible translation brings it alive. The reader rapidly gains a broad understanding and appreciation of factors which have shaped this kind of work, especially in Africa. This book inspires a rethink of bible translation in terms of hegemony, agency, the place of orality and what he calls “polarity versus holism.”

Building the Whole Church

Collaborating Theological Education Practices in the Ecclesial Context of South Asia

Jessy Jaison

Engaging qualitative research from South Asia, Dr. Jessy Jaison demonstrates that both formal and non-formal approaches to theological training can support the church's missional calling. Not only will readers be introduced to theological education in the the South Asian context, they will also benefit from the practical and collaborative model demonstrated and how they can revitalize the process in supporting the church in its mission.

Portraits of Global Christianity

Most World Christianity books are written for scholarly audiences only. However, Portraits of Global Christianity moves beyond that sphere and into the lives of Christians who have learned about and continue to experience the global church in their everyday lives. No other global Christianity book on the market provides this kind of self-understanding on the relationship between World Christianity and individual experience.

This book is geared toward a general Christian audience and is written in an accessible style with attractive full-color charts, maps, and graphs to make quantitative data on Christianity and other religions come alive. This book urges readers to seriously consider the growth of Christianity in the global South and its impact on their own lives, and to seek opportunities to reach across ethnic, gender, and class boundaries.

This volume is not only a powerful testimony of Dr. Todd Johnson's well-recognized status, rich accomplishments, and multi-dimensional global influence as the authority on Christian demography, but also a very valuable source for the study of World Christianity in the past and present centuries.

Reading Hebrews Missiologically

The discussion on the theology of mission in the New Testament usually focuses on Jesus and Paul, with minimal attention given to the General Epistles. However, Reading Hebrews Missiologically tries to fill that gap and focuses on the theology of mission in the book of Hebrews and fleshes out the unique contribution it has to the discussion of a New Testament theology of mission.

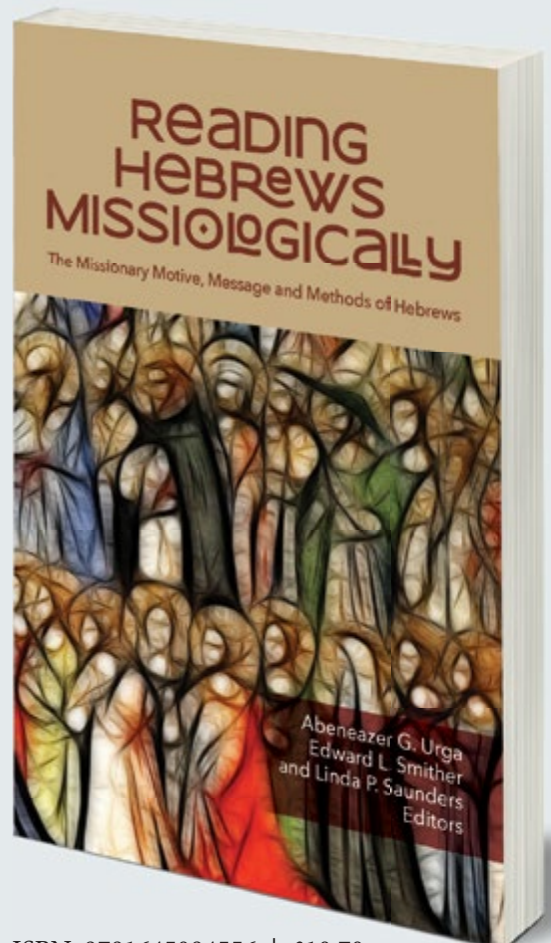

The twelve contributors—from various theological, geographical, and missiological contexts—explore the missionary motive, the missionary message, and the missionary method of the Epistle to the Hebrews. All Scripture can be read missiologically, and the letter to the Hebrews, with its emphasis on the supremacy of Christ, is no exception.

Reading Hebrews Missiologically offers a collection of essays that model for us a new way of reading the Bible with our missional lenses on that is both communal and collaborative. I could not recommend it more.

AMA NAMIN

The Lord's Prayer in Philippine Life and Spirituality

EDITED BY

TIMOTEO D. GENER AND JASON RICHARD TAN

March 2023 | 9781839732676 | Paperback | 206 pages | £8.50

Ama Namin exemplifies the enormous value of careful biblical reflection done as an act of contextualization. My grasp of the Lord's Prayer was greatly enriched and it helped my understanding of how to contextualize my own reading and understanding of Scripture.

MARK LABBERTON, PhD

Fuller Theological Seminary, California, USA

Ama Namin brings together some of the brightest Filipino minds in Christian theology to reflect on the prayer first spoken by Christ. More than being a collection of excellent reflections, it is in itself a prayer in our unique Filipino voice: a firm and resolute confession of who our God the Father is and a hopeful vision of who we are as his people.

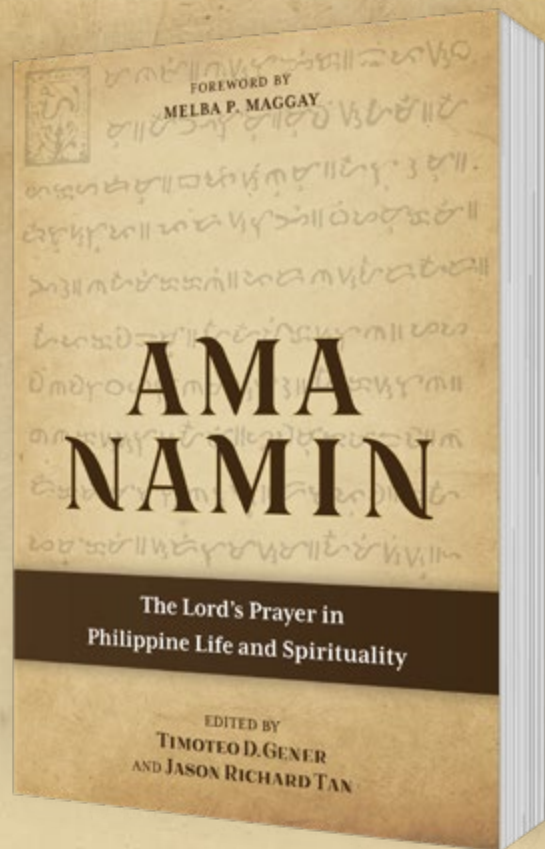

MARIE JOY PRING, PhD

Asia-Pacific Nazarene Theological Seminary, Philippines

Just when we think we have understood the prayer that Jesus taught us, along comes a book that unveils the wealth of wisdom that makes the "Our Father" a perennial path to holistic spirituality.

Can a Christian Be Cursed?

An African Evangelical Response to the Problem of Curses

Godwin O. Adeboye

In this well-researched and intentionally easy-to-read book, the author provides an evangelical response to the belief in curses in contemporary African Christianity. This is a gem for the African church and the academy. Every African theological library must have a copy of this book.

REV. DAVID TARUS, PhD

Association for Christian Theological Education in Africa, Kenya

This publication is a beautiful juxtaposition of biblical hermeneutics and theological methodology. This is a book that all church and denominational leaders, other gospel ministers, theological educators, and ministers-in-training need to read.

REV. EMIOLA NIHINLOLA, PhD

Nigerian Baptist Theological Seminary, Ogbomosho

This book empowers African Christians to confront their fear of curses with thorough biblical exposition.

HELEN A. LABEODAN, PhD

University of Ibadan, Nigeria

Combining biblical theology with practical and pastoral help, this careful, detailed, and wide-ranging book will be useful for pastors, preachers, theologians, seminary students, and lecturers across Africa.

PATRICK SOOKHDEO, PhD

Oxford Centre for Religion and Public Life, UK

This book is timely, simple, and readable. It shines a clear light on how readers can understand and biblically respond to curses. This work will enrich the international discussion and it is my honour to recommend it for use in institutions of higher learning, churches, and society as a whole.

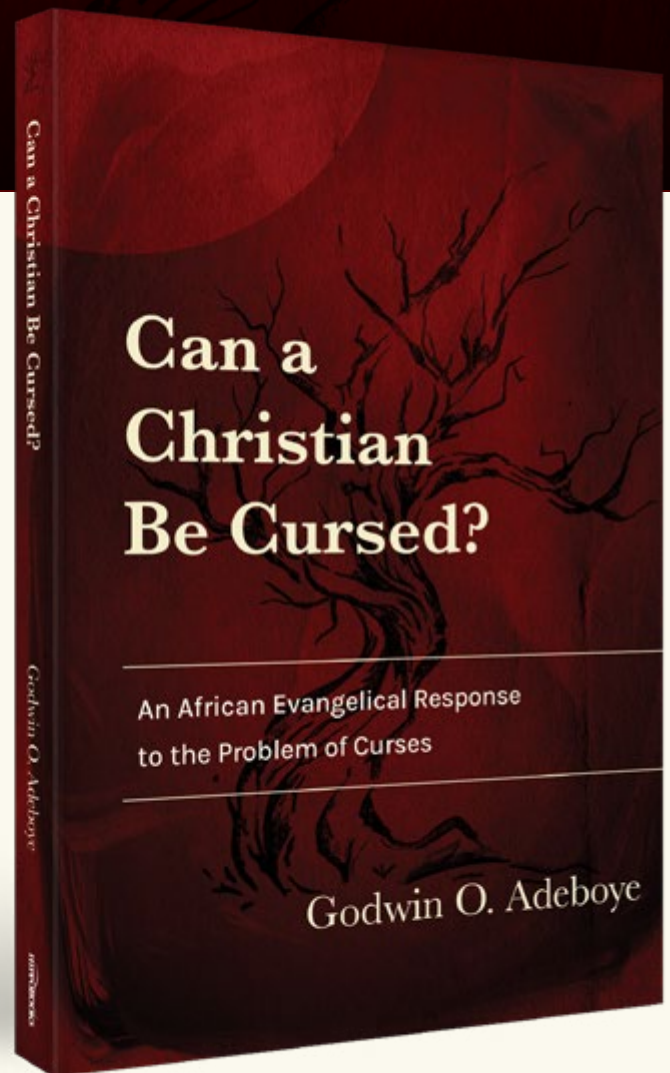

STEPHEN O. Y. BABA, PhD

ECWA Theological Seminary, Igbaja, Nigeria

In almost all African ethnic groups, people take curses seriously. Adeboye's book brings comfort through a focus on the sovereignty of God, who has the power to overrule any human curse.

18 WORDS

The Most Important Words you will Ever Know

Packer, J. I.

If the modern world can be characterised by one thing it is probably the enormous increase in the number of words around - but that increase has also been accompanied by a seemingly corresponding decrease in understanding. J. I. Packer is a master wordsmith. He is also gifted with the ability of showing where truth lies in complicated reasoning. These skills combine to make 18 Words a fascinating read - and a life-changing one. 2010, CFP, 9781845503277, Paperback, 208 pages £5.30

A BETTER WAY

Jesus and Old Testament Fulfilment

Austen, Simon

Too many young people today believe the Bible is a closed book. What are the Old and New Testaments all about. What is the big picture? When Jesus walked to Emmaus with two disciples after the resurrection he went through the Old Testament and showed them how it was all about him. Simon Austen has captured that joyous curiosity and amazement as he explains how the major events of the Old Testament pointed to a new era, a better way.

Why we can trust the Bible

Ovey, Michael

Let's face some uncomfortable facts: many Christians can struggle with exactly the same issues about the Bible as their non-Christian friends. Is God in control? Can he be trusted? Is he moral? Does he care and can he speak into my life and my struggles? Daniel Strange and Michael Ovey set out how we can place our complete trust in Scripture, challenging both Christian's and those outside the church.

Explorations in Theological Interpretation of the Bible

Green, Joel B.; Meadowcroft, Tim

The contemporary renaissance of theological interpretation as an approach to reading the Bible has brought with it a host of questions. Essays in this volume tackle these questions primarily by engaging directly with biblical texts, both in theological interpretation for its own sake and to see what the texts themselves might suggest about doing theological interpretation. The result is a much-needed exploration of theological interpretation in the hands of biblical scholars, theologians, and linguists occupied with exegesis.

HERMENEUTICS AS APPRENTICESHIP

How the Bible Shapes Our Interpretive Habits and Practices
Starling, David I.

Starling offers a fresh approach to biblical interpretation, focusing on the ways Scripture forms its readers as wise and faithful interpreters. Starling shows that apprenticing ourselves to the interpretive practices of the biblical writers and engaging closely with texts from the whole Bible help develop the habits and practices to be good readers of Scripture. After introducing the principles, Starling works through the canon, providing inductive case studies in interpretive method and drawing out implications for contemporary readers.

IN ALL THE SCRIPTURES

The Three Contexts of Biblical Hermeneutics

Piotrowski, Nicholas G.; Goldsworthy, Graeme

No one reads the Bible without some interpretive principles, or hermeneutics, in place. The question every student of Scripture needs to ask, then, is this: Are your interpretive principles and methods legitimate and ethical? In this accessible introduction to biblical hermeneutics, Nicholas G. Piotrowski presents an approach that explores three layers of context: literary, historical, and christological.

Patronage, Honor, and Shame in the Biblical World

Richards, E. Randolph; James, Richard

The Bible was written within collectivist cultures, and it's easy for Westerners to misinterpret – or miss – important elements. Combining the expertise of a biblical scholar and a missionary practitioner, this essential guidebook explores the deep social structures of the ancient Mediterranean, stripping away individualist assumptions and helping us read the Bible better.

MISREADING SCRIPTURE WITH WESTERN EYES

Removing Cultural Blinders to Better Understand the Bible

Richards, E. Randolph

Brandon O'Brien and Randy Richards shed light on the ways that Western readers often misunderstand the cultural dynamics of the Bible. Identifying nine areas where commonplaces of modern Western thought diverge with the text, the authors ask us to reconsider long-held assumptions about our most beloved book.

This definitive study looks at the task of interpreting Scripture by exploring four broad models for understanding Scripture, namely, "witnessing tradition," "authoritative canon," "inspired word," and "experienced revelation." The diversity of interpretive approaches implied by the use of these four models is carried further by a methodological catholicity and openness within each of the four major divisions of the book.

This work looks at the task of interpreting Scripture as "witnessing tradition," "authoritative canon," "inspired word," and "experienced revelation." The diversity of interpretive approaches implied by the use of these four models of Scripture is carried further by a methodological catholicity and openness within each of the four major divisions of the book. Throughout, Goldingay also continually moves toward the interpreter's final task- communication to others of what has been gained in interpretation.

The Background to Galatians

Barnett, Paul W.

What motivated Paul from his Damascus road experience through to the end of his life? That is the question driving this powerfully argued work by leading New Testament scholar Paul Barnett. Barnett proposes that an understanding of Paul's years in Syria-Cilicia is critical for understanding his visit to Jerusalem, the mission to Galatia, the counter-mission of the 'agitators', the dispute with Cephas in Antioch and the implied dispute with James.

PORTRAITS OF FAITH

What Five Biblical Characters Teach Us About Our Life with God

Beeke, Joel R.

We often use the word 'faith' without thinking much about its meaning. We know that without faith, it is impossible to please God and that faith is the core and foundation of daily Christian living. But what is faith? Author Joel R. Beeke believes we can best understand faith by seeing how it operates by the Spirit in the lives of fallen sinners like us.

2015, RHB, 9781601784476, Paperback, 104 pages £5.90*POSTCOLONIAL FEMINIST INTERPRETATION OF THE BIBLEDube, Musa W.*

Noting that the ways of interpreting the Bible now practiced in the West are patriarchal and oppressive of those in other parts of the world, Dube offers an alternative interpretation that attends to and respects needs of women in the two-thirds world. In a provocative and insightful reading of the book of Matthew, she shows us how to read the Bible as decolonizing rather than imperialist literature.

Luke is here presented as contributing to New Testament Christology through his treatment of Old Testament Christological texts. This redaction-critical study argues that Luke's use of the Old Testament is not so much a 'proof from prophecy' as a 'proclamation' that draws both upon prophecies and upon patterns. This proclamation as it is developed in Luke-Acts serves to turn the reader's attention from seeing Jesus as Messiah to seeing him eventually as Lord.

How American Christians Misunderstand and Misuse their Scriptures

Kuhn, Karl Allen

Reading the Bible Badly exposes how American Christians misunderstand and misuse the Bible, reading Scripture through lenses that distort its true character. Many of us read the Bible in fear, warping our witness to Jesus and tragically neglecting Scripture's ever-persistent call to compassion, hospitality, and love. We come to the Bible looking for simple rules that affirm our sense of right and wrong, while missing the point of what Jesus taught about wisdom and true righteousness.

One Continuous Story, Plan, and Purpose

Kaiser, Jr., Walter C.

This book helps readers grasp the Bible's progressive witness on various theological concepts. Kaiser challenges the common scholarly posture that sees mostly diversity throughout the biblical canon, pointing instead to the way several Biblical themes substantially support the case for unity, including Messianic Promises, The People of God, The Law of God, The Doctrine of Salvation. This book exhibits sound techniques for students, pastors, and Bible teachers who seek to make sense of the Bible's many and different texts.

SCRIPTURE AND COSMOLOGY

Reading the Bible Between the Ancient World and Modern Science

Greenwood, Kyle

Greenwood helps us see how the best Christian thinkers have viewed the cosmos in light of Scripture – and grappled with new understandings as science has advanced from Aristotle to Copernicus to Galileo and the galaxies of deep space. It's a compelling story that both illuminates the text of Scripture and helps us find our own place in the tradition of faithful Christian thinking and interpretation.

Using Cognitive Linguistics in Preaching Images and Metaphors

Szumorek, Adam

Exploring how the God of Scripture reveals himself through metaphor and imagery, Dr. Adam Szumorek utilizes Cognitive Linguistics to help students, teachers, and preachers understand how meaning is communicated in Scripture and conceptualized within the human brain. He provides a theological framework for applying Cognitive Linguistics in biblical exegesis, demonstrating its value in aiding our understanding of biblical texts and in communicating that understanding to others through sermons that speak to people's minds, hearts, and imaginations.

SEIZED BY TRUTH

Reading the Bible as Scripture

Green, Joel B.

When we read the Bible we are not reading someone else's mail, as though it has to do foremost with recovering an ancient meaning intended for someone else and then translating its principles for use in our own lives. This means that reading the Bible as Scripture has less to do with what tools we bring to the task, however important these may be, and more to do with our own dispositions as we come to our engagement with Scripture.

SHUT UP AND SHOW ME!

A Bold Study on James

Atkinson, Bruce

This study on the New Testament letter of James boldly deals with such topics as the character and life of the contemporary Christian, the misconception that Paul and James disagreed on the gospel, Christians overcoming trials by aggressive faith, the nature of tests and trials, justification by works and its relationship to justification by faith, the power and misuse of the tongue, and so on. The book is provocative to holy living in Jesus Christ for today's church.

"SILENCE" IN TRANSLATION

1 Corinthians 14:34–35 in Myanmar and the Development of a Critical Contextual Hermeneutic

Sui Hluan, Anna

The role of women in the church has long been a contentious topic for Christians. In this groundbreaking study, Dr. Anna Sui Hluan critically examines the understanding of "silence" within the Myanmar context, specifically as it impacts the church's interpretation of 1 Corinthians 14:34–35. This interdisciplinary study combines cultural and linguistic awareness, a critical analysis of hermeneutics, and a deep commitment to Scripture as the foundation for faith and life.

Envisioning the Cross of Christ in an African Perspective

Falconer, Robert

There are many books about the cross of Christ, but few are written from an African perspective or with an African context in mind. In this book, Dr. Falconer offers the reader a holistic understanding of Jesus's atoning work that powerfully addresses African realities and concerns. Presenting a biblical perspective of the cross – one rooted in penal substitution and Christus Victor theology – Falconer demonstrates Christ's power in all aspects of our lives, including over ancestors, evil spirits, witchcraft, and sin.

SURPRISED BY THE COMMANDMENTS

Discovering New Depth And Richness

Beynon, Graham

We see the commandments as a summary of God's law for Israel. The rest of the law in the Old Testament is an unpacking of these commands. The New Testament then shows us a variety of repetition, enlargement and fulfilment of the different commands. The result is a hugely informative and helpful overview of Christian living and ethics. Includes worked examples of how to move from the Old Testament to the New Testament and pastoral application for today's believer.

THE DARK SIDE OF DISCIPLESHIP

Why and How the New Testament Encourages Christians to Deal with the Devil

Gary, Tyra

There's a dark side to Christian discipleship church members ignore to their peril. The New Testament has much to say about why and how Christ's followers must deal with the devil. Gary Tyra argues that key to overcoming Satan is a balanced, Spirit-empowered engagement in what he refers to as the four cardinal components of Christian discipleship. Understanding the various ways the devil attempts to derail our experiences of worship, nurture, community, and mission can serve to motivate us with respect to them!

The Emergence of a Biblical Paradigm

Hill, John, CSSR

John Hill investigates how the people of ancient Judah survived invasion and destruction at the hands of the Babylonians. Although some of them were deported to Babylon, they created a new identity for themselves, and then, once they were back in Judah, they tried to recreate the past. Hill examines the way that later generations used the experience of the Babylonian invasion to interpret the crises of their own times. Christian Assurance and the message of Lamentations

Kaiser, Jr., Walter C.

Most of us will have faced that most delicate situation of meeting a person who is suffering. We tend to go down one of two different avenues. One is to offer well-intentioned advice - often in the form of well-worn clichés that the person will have heard several times before. The other is not to say anything at all - risking the danger of leaving the person under the impression that God has no idea what is going on and is unable to help. How are we to understand suffering and its place in our lives? Should we try and rationalise it away, trying to come up with a solution that sits as comfortably as possible? Surely we should look to Scripture first? This is what Walter Kaiser does here. Looking at the Old Testament book of Lamentations Kaiser does not offer any easy solutions - but rather shows us how a Sovereign and Loving God can work through even the most painful moments.

"In the book of Lamentations, more than perhaps anywhere else except for its individualistic expression in the book of Job, we are led into an experience of suffering and communal pain on a scale seldom endured by many individuals or nations. All too frequently the subject of suffering is avoided, or the realities of human pathos and divine involvement are minimized. Lamentations will not yield to any of these cheap 'cures'. Instead of panaceas, it will direct us to the faithfulness and gracious character of God." Walter C. Kaiser, Jr.

Preaching The Old Testament Today

Kent, Grenville J. R.

When Jesus walked with his confused disciples on the Emmaus road, he began with Moses and all the Prophets and explained to them what was said in all the Scriptures concerning himself - and their hearts burned within them (Luke 24). Contemporary people, too, can find their hearts burning as they hear God speak through the Old Testament texts. However, preaching from this part of the Bible brings significant challenges and raises a number of issues, and hence can be neglected.

A Study in the Hebrew Bible and Select Second Temple Jewish Literature Compared with Aspects of Divine Retribution in Deuteronomy

Rotokha, Angukali

While a Christian understanding of divine judgement tends to focus on the afterlife, the Hebrew Bible is far more concerned with divine retribution as something experienced in this life. Yet if the same God enacts both, should there not be significant continuity between biblical accounts of divine retribution, whether experienced in this world or the hereafter? In this study, Dr. Angukali Rotokha provides an overview of Old Testament and Second Temple sources that express conceptions of post-mortem judgement.

The Old Testament for Pastors and Students

Brueggemann, Walter

Brueggemann provides guidance for interpreting Old Testament texts and offers both advice for the interpreter as well as examples of working with different sorts of passages: from narratives, prophecies, and Psalms. He also demonstrates how to work thematically, drawing together threads from different traditions. His goal is to work through the rhetoric of these passages to reach toward theological interpretation. These investigations indicate Brueggemann's conviction that the process of moving from text to interpretive outcome can be learned and practiced.

SCRIPTURE, CULTURE, AND AGRICULTURE

An Agrarian Reading of the Bible

Davis, Ellen F.

This book examines the theology and ethics of land use, especially the practices of modern industrialized agriculture, in light of critical biblical exegesis. Nine interrelated essays explore the biblical writers' pervasive concern for the care of arable land against the background of the geography, social structures, and religious thought of ancient Israel. This approach consistently brings out neglected aspects of texts, both poetry and prose, that are central to Jewish and Christian traditions.

THE WORD BECAME FRESH

How to Preach from Old Testament Narrative Texts

Davis, Dale Ralph

For nearly two hundred years a skeptical brand of Old Testament criticism has largely held sway in our universities and divinity halls; it 'un-godded' the Old Testament, implied the Old Testament documents were extremely complex and involved, and managed to make Old Testament studies mostly boring, lifeless, and dull. Of course the occasional student finds this high priestly craft of Old Testament criticism attractive but many simply write the Old Testament off.

Why Sinai Still Matters

Imes, Carmen Joy

What does the Old Testament – especially the law – have to do with your Christian life? In this warm, accessible volume, Carmen Joy Imes takes readers back to Sinai, arguing that we've misunderstood the command about "taking the Lord's name in vain." Instead, Imes says that this command is really about "bearing God's name," a theme that continues throughout the rest of Scripture.

BEGINNING AT MOSES

A Guide to Finding Christ in the Old Testament

Barrett, Michael P. V.

For many Christians today, the Old Testament is difficult to understand, seems outdated, and has questionable relevance. But, as Old Testament scholar Michael Barrett points out, all Scripture is inspired by the Holy Spirit and we must read it by faith, seeing that Christ is the key to unlocking the Old Testament's message. With great knowledge of and contagious passion for the Old Testament, the author shows readers how to identify basic characteristics of Christ and where to look for Him throughout the Old Testament.

THE CONCEPT OF DIVINE SOVEREIGNTY IN MICAH

A Vision for the Fulfillment of the Abrahamic Promises

Semwayo, Colin

In this careful explication of the minor prophet, Dr Semwayo challenges those who would question the text's unity, revealing Micah as a powerful theological reflection on the reestablishment of Yahweh's sovereignty on earth. Connecting the Zion/Davidic traditions to the Abrahamic covenant, Semwayo articulates a vision of hope that is as relevant for us in the twenty-first century as it was for Micah's original audience.

Introducing the Psalms

Brueggemann, Walter

Brueggemann explores the rich historical, literary, theological, and spiritual content of the Psalms while focusing on various themes such as praise, lament, violence, and wisdom. He skillfully describes Israel's expression of faith as sung through the Psalms, situates the Psalmic liturgical tradition in its ancient context, and encourages contemporary readers to continue to perform them as part of their own worship experiences.

Preaching the Lament Psalms

Villanueva, Federico G.

This book challenges us to confront our struggles and questions instead of denying them. Most importantly the author invites us to bring all of ourselves into God's presence and the community of faith. It is through our experiences and sharing them with God and his church that we grow in intimacy with God and our relationship with one another.

The Book Of Psalms In The Life Of The Church

Shead, Andrew G.

The Old Testament prophets spoke oracles from God - but the theology of the Psalms arises from the daily lives of his people. The New Testament apostles expounded the death and resurrection of Christ through sermon and epistle - but the Christology of the Psalms is expressed in poetry. The Gospels show us Jesus in the flesh, teaching, healing, dying and rising. In the Psalms we are invited to accompany him on his journey of suffering, trust and vindication.

AGAINST THE FLOW

The Inspiration of Daniel in an Age of Relativism

Lennox, John

Daniel's story is one of extraordinary faith in God lived out at the pinnacle of executive power. Daniel and his friends did not simply maintain their private devotion to God; they maintained a high-profile witness in a pluralistic society antagonistic to their faith. That is why their story has such a powerful message for us. Society tolerates the practice of Christianity in private and in church services, but it increasingly deprecates public witness. If Daniel and his compatriots were with us today they would be in the vanguard of the public debate?

ISAIAH OLD AND NEW

Exegesis, Intertextuality, and Hermeneutics

Witherington III, Ben

Reading the Book of Isaiah in its original context is the crucial prerequisite for reading its citation and use in later interpretation, including the New Testament writings, argues Ben Witherington III. Here he offers pastors, teachers, and students an accessible commentary to Isaiah, as well as a reasoned consideration of how Isaiah was heard and read in early Christianity. By reading "forward and backward" Witherington advances the scholarly discussion of intertextuality and opens a new avenue for biblical theology.

THE NEXT TO THE LAST WORD

Service, Hope, and Revival in the Postexilic Prophets

Barrett, Michael P. V.

Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi – the often ignored Minor Prophets – delivered the next-to-last word to God's people. That is, these prophets pointed Israel to Christ, the supreme and final Word, and warned them against rejecting Him. Underscoring the truth that studying this portion of Scripture is profitable (2 Tim. 3:16), Michael Barrett helps us discern the relevance of these prophets for today.

REALITY, GRIEF, HOPE

Three Urgent Prophetic Tasks

Brueggemann, Walter

Pointing out striking correlations between the catastrophe of 9/11 and the destruction of ancient Jerusalem, Brueggemann shows how the prophetic biblical response to that crisis was truth-telling in the face of ideology, grief in the face of denial, and hope in the face of despair. He argues that the same prophetic responses are urgently required from us now if we are to escape the deathliness of denial and despair.

RESPONSIBILITY, CHASTISEMENT AND RESTORATION

Relational Justice in the Book of Hosea

Laldinsuah, Ronald

Many Old Testament scholars have focused their studies of justice on the eighth-century BC prophets Isaiah, Amos and Micah, giving little or no attention to Hosea. Neglect of Hosea in relation to justice arises from the common notion that he was a prophet of love, and although some studies concede that parts of the book deal with justice, it is often overlooked or given secondary importance to other concerns and themes.

THE THEOLOGY OF THE LAND IN AMOS 7-9

Thang, Robert Khua Hnin

In Amos the language about land is used extensively. However this subject of the land has never been studied as a topic in its own right, only as part of other themes. This work follows a synchronic reading of Amos and employing textual, literary and historical criticism the author carries out a careful analysis of the land. Although the findings are set in the context of the entire book, the study focuses on chapters 7-9 to explore the topic closer.

The Subversion of Physiognomy in Early Christianity

Parsons, Mikeal C.

Early Christianity developed in a world where moral significance was often judged based upon physical appearance alone. Exploring the manifestations of this ancient "science" of physiognomy, Parsons shows how Greco-Roman society, and by consequence the author of Luke and Acts, was steeped in this tradition. Luke, however, employs these principles in his writings in order to subvert the paradigm. Parsons shows that the Christian community – both early and present-day – is established only in the image of Jesus Christ.

£20.00THE BRANCH EXPOSITION OF THE BIBLE, VOLUME 2

A Preacher's Commentary of the Old Testament

Eaton, Michael A.

A great deal of biblical scholarship is written for academics and fails to edify readers or strengthen their Christian ministry. Yet, Christians need to be nourished by the word of God so they can mature in faith and righteousness. Inspired by the words of the great reformer Martin Luther about shaking every branch of Scripture, and with experience in ministering across Africa, India and the West, Michael A. Eaton helps us understand the meaning of the Bible and taste its fruit.

Reflections on the Gospel of Mark

Jemna, Danut

Drawing on Jesus's example in the Gospel of Mark, this book offers an in-depth exploration of the nature of discipleship. A tool to help readers draw close to Jesus, it presents discipleship as a way of life centred on the journey back to God. At a time when secular culture is rediscovering the benefits of discipleship, this book invites readers into a powerful experience of identity formation based on the values of Christ and his kingdom.

Establishing the Origins and Authority of the New Testament Books

Kruger, Michael J.

This study of the New Testament canon and its authority looks deeper than the traditional surveys of councils and creeds, mining the biblical text itself for direction in understanding what the original authors and audiences believed the canon to be. Canon Revisited distinguishes itself by placing a substantial focus on the theology of canon as the context within which the historical evidence is evaluated and assessed.

The Theological Vision and Logic of Paul's Letter to the Galatians

Tedder, Samuel J.

Paul's passionate Letter to the Galatians has occasioned various perspectives (old, new, radical new, apocalyptic, etc.) for explaining Paul's defense of the truth of the gospel in it. The investigative journey in this book discusses key concepts and texts from Galatians, and addresses questions concerning the shape of Paul's retelling of Israel's story in relation to Jews and Gentiles. The result is a well-grounded interpretation of Paul's conception of the gospel that made him new and continues to bring about new creation in our world.

CHRISTIAN GENEROSITY ACCORDING TO 2 CORINTHIANS 8–9

Its Exegesis, Reception, and Interpretation Today in Dialogue with the Prosperity Gospel in Sub-Saharan Africa

Habarurema, Viateur

In this book, Dr Habarurema applies biblical scholarship, historical enquiry and contemporaneous analysis to generosity and financial reward in 2 Corinthians 8–9, as well as to the prosperity gospel movement. With a clear focus on the concepts of divine charis and autarkeia, this study provides insight into the apostle Paul's exhortations to care for the poor and vulnerable in society as a manifestation by the church of God's compassion and grace.

THE CLIMAX OF PROPHECY

Studies on the Book of Revelation

Bauckham, Richard J.

Revelation is a work of immense importance and learning. Yet among the major works of early Christianity included in the New Testament it has received relatively little scholarly attention. This work is a significant contribution to remedying this neglect. The author examines the meticulous literary artistry, creative imagination, radical political critique and profound theology of the Apocalypse of John. It is a sustained enterprise to understand both the form and the message of the Apocalypse in its literary and historical contexts.

COLOSSIANS

A Short Exegetical and Pastoral Commentary

Thiselton, Anthony C.

In this clear, practical, and brief commentary, Anthony Thiselton brings to bear his intimate knowledge of Paul's theology, the ancient city of Colossae, and Paul's epistle to the church of that city. The commentary offers a new translation from the Greek, and explorations of an exegetical as well as a pastoral and practical nature on all passages of the book. Each section concludes with questions for further reflection.

THE CROSS IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

A Book by Book Study of the Central Fact of Christianity

Morris, Leon L.

The Cross in the New Testament explores in turn Matthew and Mark, and Lukan writings, John, the Pauline epistles, Hebrews, the catholic epistles, and Revelation, showing what each New Testament scripture contributes to our understanding of atonement. Atonement for Morris is not merely expiation i.e. a covering over of sins but propitiation i.e. also a turning aside of wrath. While Morris emphasizes the need to appreciate the many strands woven into this doctrine, he criticizes the views of modern scholars that do not square with the biblical teaching.

EXILE: A CONVERSATION WITH N. T. WRIGHT

Scott, James M.

Few New Testament scholars of recent decades have set the pitch for academic discussion and debate in their field like N. T. Wright. His signature contention, that Israel's continuing exile was a pivotal issue in the emergence of Christianity, has found a central place in contemporary New Testament scholarship. This book takes our understanding of this critical issue to a new level. It is essential reading for anyone engaged with Wright's work and the Jewish setting of Jesus and Paul.

FORETASTE OF THE FUTURE

Reading Revelation in Light of God's Mission

Flemming, Dean

For many Christians, the book of Revelation inspires confusion and fear. It's seen as a coded screenplay for the end times, or it's just too strange to understand. The problem, Dean Fleming contends, is that when we read Revelation as focused on the future, we miss what it says about what God is doing in the world now.

New Testament Essays in Honor of David Alan Black

Akin, Daniel L.; Hudgins, Thomas W.

The present volume consists of thirteen studies, written by some of Black's colleagues, friends, and former students, on a number of New Testament topics in honor of his successful research and teaching career. Not only do they address issues that have garnered his attention over the years, they also extend the scholarly discussion with up-to-date research and fresh evaluations of the evidence, making this book a valuable contribution in itself to the field that Black has devoted himself to since he began his career.

GOD'S POWER TO SAVE

One Gospel For A Complex World?

Green, Christopher

Are Christians free to declare that their beliefs are true, and that other views are not, in a pluralistic society where 'tolerance' is such an accepted norm? In the New Testament, do the Synoptic Gospels and John, or Paul, or indeed Jesus, have such mutually exclusive views that they are not coherent in diversity, but actually divergent? These questions are subjected to penetrating, rigorous analysis in essays from the Ninth Oak Hill Annual School of Theology.

New Testament Perspectives on Jerusalem

Walker, Peter

This book surveys the various landscapes portrayed by the different New Testament authors and draws these together into an overall biblical theology of Jerusalem, which impinges directly on the way Christians are to understand Jerusalem today. At the center of this theology stands the figure of Jesus, whose life and death in Jerusalem had significant repercussions for the city and for the subsequent New Testament understanding of Jerusalem.

Evaluating Empire in New Testament Studies

McKnight, Scot; Modica, Joseph B.

This volume brings together respected biblical scholars to evaluate the turn toward "empire criticism" in recent New Testament scholarship. While praising the movement for its deconstruction of Roman statecraft and ideology, the contributors also provide a salient critique of the anti-imperialist rhetoric pervading much of the current literature.

2013, IVP US, 9780830839919, Paperback, 224 pages £9.10*JESUS IS THE CHRIST

Studies in the Theology of John

Morris, Leon L.

For an age still asking the question "Who is Jesus?" Leon Morris argues convincingly that John's entire Gospel was written to show that the human Jesus is the Christ, or Messiah, and the Son of God. But it is Morris's firm conviction that John's purpose was evangelistic as well as theological – that is, John wrote his book so that readers might believe in Christ and as a result have eternal life.

LISTENING TO THE TEXT

Oral Patterning In Paul's Letters

Harvey, John D.

The first work to consider a broader range of Paul's writing and to investigate the uniquely oral nature of the rhetorical patterns found there. The identification of these rhetorical forms can assist interpreters in identifying the overall structure of Paul's Epistles as well as the particular aspects that Paul intended to emphasize. Dr Harvey also suggests practical exegetical conclusions that can be drawn from the identification of the oral patterns Paul adopted in his letters.

THE QUESTION OF CANON

Challenging The Status Quo In The New Testament Debate

Kruger, Michael J.

Why did Christians have a canon at all? Does the canon exist because of some later decision or action of the second- or third-century church? Did it arise more naturally from within the early Christian faith? Was the canon an extrinsic or intrinsic phenomenon? These are not micro questions, but macro ones. They address foundational and paradigmatic issues about the way we view the canon. They force us to consider the larger framework through which we conduct our research.

RESERVOIRS OF STRENGTH

Lessons from the Book of James

Bilkes, Gerald M.

The epistle of James opens with a command to count it all joy when we face life's trials. But how can we speak of joy when difficulties bring so much sadness? Gerald M. Bilkes surveys James's letter and directs us to eight quiet streams that can strengthen us when things get hard: the truth of God, the lordship of Christ, the friendship of God, the wisdom of God, the grace of God, the will of God, the justice of God, and the ear of God.

and Other New Testament Essays

Cranfield, Charles E. B.

Subjects include, what Paul meant by "the works of law;" whether his meaning in the words "pistis Christou" was "faith in Christ" or "Christ's faith;" whether the Old Testament law has a continuing place in the life of the Christian church. Cranfield does not lose sight of the relevance of theology, and of New Testament studies in particular, to the life of the Church and of the Christian individual today.

This collection of essays considers what light is shed on Pauline soteriology by giving focused attention to the apostle's language and conception of sin. Is there a model or perspective that can account for Paul's conceptual range in his discussion of sin? What does careful study of Paul's letters reveal about the christological and pneumatological remedies to the problem of sin as he conceives of them? These questions are explored with attention to individual Pauline letters towards a richer understanding of his attitude towards sin and its remedy.

Israel and the Nations in the Interpretative Framework of Matthew's Gospel

Sarma, Bitrus A.

Matthew's Gospel is pivotal in scholarly discussion on the hermeneutical use of the Old Testament in the New. Sarma proposes that Matthew utilizes the Old Testament as a book of promise of God's salvific plan and that Jesus is the fulfillment of that promise. For Matthew, God's purpose to save fallen humanity is the grand narrative of the Bible. Using promise-fulfillment as the interpretative framework for mission theology, Sarma explores redemptive events, institutions, geography, prophetic ministry, and typology.

The New Testament begins not with a dramatic narrative or lofty poetry but with a genealogy. Provocatively, Matthew's gospel includes women in Jesus' family line – something that wasn't customary in an ancient culture, where women were largely powerless and unimportant. In this surprising take on the Christmas story, Tim Keller reveals how, by focusing on the women in Jesus' birth narratives, a colourful, scandalous, and refreshing tale of grace emerges.

The Messianic Identity in Mark

Deboch Anshiso, Bekele

The first-century Judaic understanding of the identity and nature of the Messiah has been a much-debated topic among biblical scholars and preachers alike. So too has the messianic identity and nature of Jesus himself. Deboch informs these debates with fresh evidence outside traditional references to miracles, and supernatural identifications by demons and God himself. This book brings insightful new conclusions that transform our understanding of the biblical messianic identity revealed in the person of Jesus.

The Gospel, The Epistles And The Apocalypse

Rainbow, Paul A.

While not proclaiming a definitive position on the question of authorship, this work seeks to shed light on the theology common to all the New Testament authors. John's root beliefs concerning God, humanity, sin, the world, and the significance of the Christ-event on eschatology unite the examined books with the rest of the New Testament canon. The Johannine corpus also highlights the important areas of Christology, soteriology and ecclesiology in a manner that is worth exploration.

A Cross-Centered Look at Christ's Miracles

Bilkes, Gerald M.

The gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke are filled with well-known accounts of the miracles Christ performed. Christians love to reflect on Christ's healing of the Gadarene demoniac, His raising to life Jairus's daughter, and His bountifully providing food for five thousand hungry listeners. But author Gerald M. Bilkes doesn't want us to study these miracles just because they are loved or well known. He wants us to value them for what they teach us about Christ.

READING BACKWARDS

Hays, Richard B.

The claim that the events of Jesus' life, death, and resurrection took place according to the Scriptures stands at the heart of the New Testament's earliest message. All four canonical Gospels declare that the Torah, Prophets and Psalms mysteriously prefigure Jesus. In this ground-breaking new book, Hays traces the strategies the Gospel writers employ to 'read backwards', showing how the Old Testament figuratively discloses the astonishing truth about Jesus' identity.

THEOLOGY AND HISTORY IN THE FOURTH GOSPEL

Tradition and Narration

Frey, Jörg

The Fourth Gospel is deeply shaped by its remarkably high Christology. It depicts the earthly Jesus, the incarnate one, as fully divine. This unrelenting Christology has led interpreters, both ancient and modern, to question the historical value of John's Gospel. For many, the Gospel is just theology. It is to the vexed relationship between history and theology that Jörg Frey turns in Theology and History in the Fourth Gospel.

Paul's Approach to Transformed Thinking

Keener, Craig S.

In this major work, leading New Testament scholar Craig Keener explores an important but generally neglected area of Pauline theology, Paul's teaching about the mind. Paul speaks of the corrupted mind and the mind of the flesh, but he also speaks of the mind of Christ, the mind of the Spirit, and the renewal of the mind. Keener enables readers to understand this thought world so they can interpret Paul's language for contemporary Christian life.

Adam, Israel, and Union with Christ in Romans

Sun, Wendel

What is union with Christ? What role does this theme play in the Epistle to the Romans? Does union with Christ have an Old Testament background or did Paul create the concept for his own theological purposes? These questions will be answered in this exegetical study of Romans. Special attention is given to Paul's use of Old Testament stories in relation to union with Christ. United to Christ, the church finds unity in a new identity—as a new people in Christ.

The Pagan's Apostle

Fredriksen, Paula

Paul himself maintained that he lived in history's closing hours. His letters propel his readers into two worlds, one Jewish, one pagan. The first was incandescent with apocalyptic hopes, expecting God through his messiah to fulfill his ancient promises of redemption to Israel. The second teemed with ancient actors, not only human but also divine: angry superhuman forces, jealous demons, and hostile cosmic gods. Both worlds are Paul's, and his convictions about the first shaped his actions in the second.

A Biblical and Theological Analysis of the Apostle's Teachings and Practices

Verbrugge, Verlyn

During the past twenty years a significant amount of research has been done on class-consciousness in the Greco-Roman world and on the significance of Paul's fund-raising venture "for the poor among the Lord's people in Jerusalem" – "the collection" – for his ministry. Relying on the surprising results of current Pauline scholarship and a careful exegesis of a variety of New Testament texts, this book offers a thorough investigation of the apostle Paul's sayings and dealings with money.

PAUL AND THE TRINITY

Persons, Relations, and the Pauline Letters

Hill, Wesley

Paul's ways of speaking about God, Jesus, and the Spirit are intricately intertwined. However, much current Pauline scholarship discusses Paul's language without reference to trinitarian theology. Wesley Hill argues that later trinitarian theologies represent a better approach, opening a fresh angle on Paul's earlier talk about God the Father, Jesus Christ, and the Spirit. Hill looks critically at certain well-known discussions in the field of New Testament studies, resulting in an innovative approach to an old set of questions.

Essays on Paul and Apocalyptic

De Boer, Martinus C.

This collection of essays argues that Paul's articulation of Christ and his saving work makes use of the categories and perspectives of ancient Jewish apocalyptic eschatology. Such eschatology is concerned with the expectation that God will finally and irrevocably put an end to the present order of reality ("this age") and replace it with a new, transformed order of reality ("the age to come"). In Paul's view, God has initiated this eschatological act of cosmic rectification in the person and work of Christ.

Marriage and Women's Ministry in the Letters of Paul

Keener, Craig S.

Paul's letters stand at the center of the dispute over women, the church, and the home. Acknowledging that we must take the biblical text seriously, and recognizing that Paul's letters arose in a specific time and place for a specific purpose, Keener mines the historical, lexical, cultural, and exegetical details behind Paul's words about women in the home and ministry to give us one of the most insightful expositions of the key Pauline passages in years.

Matthew J. Thomas examines how Paul's second-century readers understood these points in conflict, how their readings relate to "old" and "new" perspectives, and what their collective witness suggests about the apostle's own meaning. Surprisingly, these early witnesses align closely with the "new" perspective, though their reasoning often differs from both modern viewpoints. They suggest that Paul opposes these works neither due to moralism, nor primarily for experiential or social reasons, but because the promised new law and covenant, which are transformative and universal in scope, have come in Christ.

Spirit and Culture in Early House Churches

Banks, Robert J.

This investigation of the early church explores the revolutionary nature, dynamics, and effects of the earliest Christian communities. It introduces readers to the cultural setting of the house churches of biblical times, examines the apostle Paul's vision of life in the Christian church, and explores how the New Testament model of community applies to Christian practice today. This edition incorporates recent research, updates the bibliography, and adds a fictional narrative that depicts the life and times of the early church.

The Apostle's Challenge to the Art of Persuasion in Ancient Corinth

Litfin, Duane

Through a detailed analysis of 1 Corinthians 1-4, Litfin explores the rhetorical context of Paul's preaching and his own understanding of his task as a preacher. What is revealed in this investigation is a sharp distinction between Greco-Roman rhetorical strategies, which sought to persuade, and Paul's theology of preaching, which was based on the model of an obedient herald.

PAULINE POLITICS

An Examination of Various Perspectives: Paul and the Uprising of the Dead, Vol. 1
Oudshoorn, Daniel; Elliott, Neil

The Pauline Epistles have been claimed as a useful ally by parties across the political spectrum. Pauline Politics examines the main positions taken in relation to Paul and politics and then engages in a thorough examination of the underlying arguments used to argue that this-or-that position is more or less plausible. Underlying arguments tend to relate to two things: first, positions on the socioeconomic status of Paul, his coworkers, and other early Jesus loyalists; and second, positions on Pauline eschatology.

PREACHING ROMANS

Four Perspectives

McKnight, Scot; Modica, Joseph B.

Pauline scholarship is a minefield of differing schools of thought. Those who teach or preach on Paul can quickly get lost in the weeds of the various perspectives. Scot McKnight and Joseph B. Modica have assembled this stellar one-stop guide exploring four major interpretive perspectives on the apostle Paul: Reformational, New, Apocalyptic, and Participationist. First elucidated by a scholarly essay, each perspective is then illuminated by three sermons expositing various passages from Paul's magisterial letter to the Romans.

READING PAUL WITH THE REFORMERS

Reconciling Old and New Perspectives

Chester, Stephen J.

In debates surrounding the New Perspective on Paul, the sixteenth-century Protestant Reformers are often characterized as the apostle's misinterpreters-in-chief. In this book Stephen Chester contrasts the Reformers with their opponents and explores particular contributions made by such key figures as Luther, Melancthon, and Calvin. He relates their insights to contemporary debates in Pauline theology about justification, union with Christ, and other central themes, arguing that their work remains a significant resource today.

REFORMATION READINGS OF PAUL

Explorations in History and Exegesis

Allen, Michael

These essays seek to enable a more careful reading of the Reformers' exegesis of Pauline texts. Each chapter pairs a Reformer with a Pauline letter and then brings together a historical theologian and a biblical scholar to examine these Reformation-era readings of Paul. In doing so, this volume seeks a better understanding of the Reformers and the true meaning of the biblical text.

ROMANS DISARMED

Resisting Empire, Demanding Justice

Keesmaat, Sylvia; Walsh, Brian J.

Globalization. Homelessness. Ecological and economic crisis. Conflicts over sexuality. Violence. These crisis-level issues may seem unique to our times, but Paul's Letter to the Romans has something to say to all of them. Following their successful Colossians Remixed, the authors unpack the meaning of Romans for its original context and for today. They demonstrate how Romans disarms the political, economic, and cultural power of the Roman Empire and how this ancient letter offers hope in today's crisis-laden world.

THIS IS TRUE GRACE

The Shaping of Social Behavioural Instructions by Theology in 1 Peter

Sun, Joyce Wai-Lan

Sun investigates the coherence between the social behavioural instructions and the theological teachings found in 1 Peter. Engaging with the Balch-Elliott debate, she argues that the core question should not be whether Christians should separate from, or accommodate to, wider society, but whether their behaviour is consistent with their ultimate allegiance to God. Sun convincingly demonstrates that the social distinctiveness of Christian communities was encouraged as a form of cultural and spiritual opposition to wider societal norms.

TWIN CULTURES SEPARATED BY CENTURIES

An Indian Reading of 1 Corinthians

Spurgeon, Andrew B.

Spurgeon works from the Greek text of 1 Corinthians in a study of reverse-contextualisation, highlighting the commonalities between the contexts of Corinthian and Indian cultures and applying the principles to Indian Christians today. Spurgeon first presents Indian similarities to those in Corinth, moves on to biblical principles Paul raises for the Corinthian church's attention—especially where culture was in conflict with biblical standards—and finally reapplies these principles to the context of life in twenty-first century India.

The Use and Misuse of the Apocalypse

Newton, Jon

Revelation seems odd to modern readers and has been interpreted in strange ways over the centuries. Newton guides readers through curious interpretations past and present and explains where they go wrong. In particular, the dispensationalist interpretations of the Left Behind novels and Hal Lindsay are explained and found wanting. More than exposing misunderstandings, Newton is concerned that Revelation is seen as relevant today when interpreted responsibly. Newton ends with an investigation into the ever-controversial question of the millennium.

AGAINST THE GODS

The Polemical Theology of the Old Testament

Currid, John D.

Did the Old Testament writers borrow ideas from their pagan neighbors? And if they did, was it done uncritically? A respected Old Testament scholar and archaeologist engages with this controversial question by carefully comparing the biblical text to other ancient Near Eastern documents. Well-researched and thoughtfully nuanced, Currid aims to outline the precise relationship between the biblical worldview and that of Israel's neighbors.

ARABIC CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY

A Contemporary Global Evangelical Perspective

Stephanous, Andrea Zaki

Our theology is affected by the culture in which we live, and our theology can have unexpected effects on the lives of Christians who live thousands of miles away. This point emerges clearly as we listen to seven Arabic evangelical theologians address issues that are of critical importance to Christians living as minorities in the Muslim world including biblical interpretation, national and international politics, culture and gender.

THE ATONEMENT DEBATE

Papers from the London Symposium on the Theology of Atonement

Tidball, Derek; Hilborn, David; Thacker, Justin

When a popular British evangelical leader appeared to denounce the idea that God was punishing Christ in our place on the cross as a 'twisted version of events,' morally dubious, and a 'huge barrier to faith' that should be rejected in favour of preaching only that God is love, major controversy was stirred. Many thought the idea of penal substitution was at the heart of the evangelical understanding of the cross, if not the only legitimate interpretation of the death of Christ. Yet for some time less popular evangelical theologians had been calling this traditional interpretation of the atonement into question. The public debate which resulted was often heated. In order to act as reconcilers, the Evangelical Alliance and the London School of Theology called for a symposium in which advocates of the different positions could engage with each other.

A Classic Statement On The Value Of Having A Balanced Christianity

Stott, John R. W.

Christians tend to polarize. Some have an intellectual faith, while others are more emotional. Some focus on structure while others focus on freedom. And some champion evangelism while others advocate for social action. John Stott's classic statement of balanced Christianity shows how we can hold these tensions together in biblical, faithful ways. Also includes an interview with John Stott with further reflections on the need for balance in contemporary evangelical Christianity.

A Popular Systematic Guide to Understanding Biblical Truth

Ryrie, Charles C.

Everyone is a theologian of sorts. Theology simply means thinking about God and expressing those thoughts in some way. But sloppy theology is a problem. As Christians, our thoughts about God need to coincide with what He has said about Himself in the Bible. With his clear understanding of the Scriptures and accessible writing style, Charles Ryrie has written Basic Theology for every student of God's Word, from the lay reader to the seminary student.

"I once was blind, but now I see" is the glad confession of the Christian's heart. However, what is it that a Christian now sees that so transforms his life? It is the Christian worldview. This is not an abstract philosophy so much as biblical doctrine for life. In this volume, several pastors and theologians band together to explore aspects of the Christian worldview such as God's Trinity, supremacy, and loving sovereignty over all of life.

2017, RHB, 9781601785527, Hardback, 130 pages £14.80*THE BEAUTY AND GLORY OF THE FATHERBeeke, Joel R.*

These essays call us to stand in wonder of the First Person of the Trinity. Through an assortment of studies, readers are challenged to recognize the Father's glory displayed in His Son, to adore His beautiful attributes, to know Him as a Savior, and to rest in His loving hands. This book, along with The Beauty and Glory of Christ and The Beauty and Glory of the Holy Spirit, reinforces the ongoing necessity of cultivating a Trinitarian piety.

A Scriptural Epistemology of Error

Johnson, Dru

Biblical Knowing assesses what Israel knew, but more importantly, how she was meant to know – introducing a comprehensive Scriptural epistemology, firmly rooted in the Scripture's own presentation of important epistemological events in the story of Israel. Because modern philosophy has also made authoritative claims about knowledge, Biblical Knowing engages contemporary academic views of knowledge (e.g., Reformed Epistemology, scientific epistemology, Virtue Epistemology, etc.) and recent philosophical method (e.g., Analytic Theology), assessing them for points of fittedness with or departure from Scripture's own epistemology.

Old and New Testaments

Vos, Geerhardus

The aim of this book is no less than to provide an account of the unfolding of the mind of God in history, through the successive agents of his special revelation. Vos handles this under three main divisions: the Mosaic epoch of revelation, the prophetic epoch of revelation, and the New Testament. To read these pages is to appreciate the late John Murray's suggestion that Geerhardus Vos was the most incisive exegete in the English-speaking world of the twentieth century.

Essays on Johannine Literature in Honor of Professor Benny C. Aker

Keener, Craig S.

Johannine Literature offers some of the most beautiful, majestic, and profound theology contained within the entire biblical text. Within its works can be found the highest Christology, the capstone of eschatology, and the heartbreaking struggles of a community committed to Christ. However, it does not always get the attention it deserves in New Testament studies. This book seeks to remedy that.

The Compelling Love Story of Divine Anger

Kinghorn, Kevin

How can a loving God also be a God of wrath? Using a philosophically informed line of argument and a careful study of the relevant biblical texts, Kinghorn and Travis show how these two aspects of God's character can be reconciled. Instead of assuming that God's just response to people is incompatible with a loving response, the authors instead view God's love as a strictly essential divine attribute, with justice as a derivative of love.

Biblical Theology And Pastoral Ministry

Bolt, Peter G.

Christ has won the victory: this should inform Christian thinking about every aspect of human life. As we contemplate the issue of evil and the demonic, the gospel whispers in our ears the greatest victory this world has and will see: 'Christ is risen!' However, the presence of evil, or our fear of the demonic, can stifle the gospel whisper. Recent missional studies and pastoral practices have stimulated further discussion in the relationship between Christians and the forces of evil.

CONCISE THEOLOGY

A Guide to Historic Christian Beliefs

Packer, J. I.

Theology matters! At last it can be understood easily, thanks to this "layman's language" approach to biblical belief. Authored by J. I. Packer, one of the premier theologians of Christianity, this summary of Christian teaching covers nearly 100 major Christian beliefs from a Reformed perspective. Brief, easy-to-understand chapters offer precise descriptions without sacrificing depth. Thoughtfully arranged and refreshingly readable, this is a book that belongs on the shelf of every Christian.

An Old Testament Covenant Theology

Dumbrell, W J

This study analyses the different divine covenants of the Old Testament and argues that they are closely related. The successive covenants, from Noah to David, are seen to express the divine purpose for humanity from the creation onwards. Dumbrell interacts extensively with attempts to explain the significance of concepts such as the gift of the land, victory, rest and the divine presence. This extraordinary book also throws light upon the Christian use of the Old Testament categories. This second, revised edition brings the subject right up to date.

"The purpose of this study," writes the author, "is to take a new and hard look at Olevianus's doctrine of covenant and to determine its place in the larger picture of sixteenth-century thought." Bierma analyzes Olevianus's work on covenant and challenges the notion that Olevianus was the first to use the covenant idea as the organizing principle of his theology. He maintains that Olevianus's most significant contribution was in using the covenant to provide assurance of salvation.

DIVINE SOVEREIGNTY AND HUMAN RESPONSIBILITY

Biblical Perspective in Tension

Carson, D. A.

Both theology and philosophy wrestle with the tension that exists between the sovereignty of God and human response. This tension underlies numerous other questions: about the nature of God, the meaning of human freedom and choice, the concept of divine repentance, the reign of God and supremely, the significance of the incarnation. Dr. Carson brings clear, scholarly insights and finely-honed exegetical skills to this all-pervasive issue, seeing it not so much as a problem to be solved as a framework to be explored.

THE DOCTRINES OF GRACE

Rediscovering the Evangelical Gospel

Boice, James Montgomery; Ryken, Philip Graham

We live in an age of weak theology and casual Christianity. And this situation will continue as long as God's people insist on substituting intuition for truth, feeling for belief, and immediate gratification for enduring hope. Two respected pastors make a compelling case for the need to recover the five fundamental doctrines of the Christian faith: radical depravity, unconditional election, particular redemption, efficacious grace, and persevering grace.

THE DRAMA OF DOCTRINE

A Canonical-Linguistic Approach to Christian Theology

Vanhoozer, Kevin J.

Observing a strange disappearance of doctrine within the church, Kevin Vanhoozer argues that there is no more urgent task for Christians today than to engage in living truthfully with others before God. Taking his cue from George Lindbeck and others who locate the criteria of Christian identity in Spirit-led church practices, Vanhoozer relocates the norm for Christian doctrine in the canonical practices, which, he argues, both provoke and preserve the integrity of the church's witness as prophetic and apostolic.

DUAL RELIGIOSITY IN NORTHERN MALAWI

Ngonde Christians and African Traditional Religion

Mlenga, Joyce

Over a century much of Africa embraced Christianity. In Malawi 80% of people identify as Christian, and the Ngonde at its northern border with Tanzania are no exception. While it is difficult to find someone who does not claim to be a Christian, African traditional religion is widely practiced. While the two religions are not "mixed", they are both realities in many a Christian's life. Mlenga explores the relationship between them and considers factors which affect dual religiosity.

THE FUTURE OF HOPE

Christian Tradition Amid Modernity and Postmodernity

Volf, Miroslav

This book critiques today's stifling cultural climate and shows why the vision of hope central to Christian faith must be a basic component of any flourishing society. The first section of the book gives cultural criticism of modernity. The second focuses on affinities between premodern Christian visions of hope and twentieth-century thought. The final section examines the relationship between postmodern thought, Christian tradition, and biblical hope, addressing how Christians in a postmodern world can best articulate their faith.

Biblical Christology in Light of the Doctrine of God

Duby, Stephen J.

In both biblical studies and systematic theology, modern treatments of the person of Christ have cast doubt on whether earlier Christian descriptions of God can fit together with the revelation of God in Christ. This book explains how the Jesus revealed in Scripture comports with such descriptions of God.

Ecumenical Voices in Dialogue

Roper, Garnett; Middleton, J. Richard

Evangelical Caribbean theologians present proposals for how the gospel addresses the Caribbean context. They are joined by other theologians from mainline Protestant and Catholic traditions in the Caribbean. The result is an ecumenical dialogue on the diverse ways in which orthodox Christian faith may provide challenge and hope for the Caribbean context. Half the essays in this volume were presented at the Forum on Caribbean Theology in 2010 at the Jamaica Theological Seminary; the rest were invited for this volume.

Rethinking the Theology of the Bible

Witherington III, Ben

Ben Witherington asks: What does it mean to call the Bible "God's word"? In doing so, he takes on other recent studies which downplay the connection between history and theology, or between historical accuracy and truth claims. The Bible is not merely to be viewed as a Word about God, Witherington argues. Instead, he says, the Bible exhorts us to see the Bible as a living Word from God.

Scenes of the Church's Worship, Witness and Wisdom

Vanhoozer, Kevin J.

Many Christians are held captive by a picture of the imagination as a purveyor of false images, prone to idolatry. But we lack the resources to see and imagine things differently. Kevin Vanhoozer calls the church to a more biblical and premodern picture, one that sees every particular person, thing and event in the light of God's act of reconciling the world to himself in Christ. Drawing our attention to what really matters: the God of the gospel.

THE PROBLEM WITH EVANGELICAL THEOLOGY

Testing the Exegetical Foundations of Calvinism, Dispensationalism, Wesleyanism, and Pentecostalism, Revised and Expanded Edition

Witherington III, Ben

Ben Witherington wrestles with some of the big ideas of major traditional theological systems (sin, God's sovereignty, prophecy, grace, and the Holy Spirit), asking tough questions about their biblical foundations. Advocating a return to Protestantism's sola scriptura roots, Witherington argues that evangelicalism sometimes wrongly assumes a biblical warrant for some of its more popular beliefs.

READING BARTH WITH CHARITY

A Hermeneutical Proposal

Hunsinger, George

In this volume George Hunsinger, a world-renowned expert on Barth's theology, makes an authoritative contribution to the debate concerning Barth's trinitarian theology and doctrine of election. Hunsinger challenges a popular form of Barth interpretation pertaining to the Trinity, demonstrating that there is no major break in Barth's thought between the earlier and the later Barth of the Church Dogmatics. Hunsinger also discusses important issues in trinitarian theology and Christology that extend beyond the contemporary Barth debates.

RENEWING CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY

Systematics for a Global Christianity

Yong, Amos; Anderson, Jonathan A.

Christianity's center of gravity has tilted from the Euro-American West to the global South. Driving this shift is the emergence of charismatic renewal movements among Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Orthodox churches. This reshaping of the theological landscape has inspired prominent theologian Amos Yong to construct a cutting-edge theology for the twenty-first century. Within a Pentecostal and evangelical framework, Yong's Renewing Christian Theology is a primer on how to think theologically in a global context. 2014, Baylor, 9781602587618, Paperback, 477 pages £29.60

REVELATION AND GRACE

A Critical Appraisal of Hendrik Kraemer's Theology of Religions

Djung, Philip

Our globalized world, with its increasingly pluralistic societies, necessitates a theological framework that enables Christians to embrace their neighbors without compromising the essential components of their own faith. In this book, Dr. Djung explores the ways in which Hendrik Kraemer's theology of religions offers the church such a framework. By placing Kraemer in conversation with other twentieth-century Dutch Reformed theologians, Dr. Djung allows the doctrine of revelation and grace to inform his interpretation of Kraemer's work. 2021, Langham Monographs, 9781839732195, Paperback, 250 pages £11.00

RIGHT KINGDOM, WRONG STORIES

A Backward Reading of Matthew's Parables

Tsang, Sam

This study takes the singular approach of reading two sides of a parable. The close reading will locate the message of the text within the world of both Jesus and Matthew. RUN TO WIN THE PRIZE

Perseverance In The New Testament

Schreiner, Thomas R.

The Christian life is like a marathon race set out before us. There is a reward in running well, but particularly in finishing. Christians agree that this is a consistent pattern of New Testament teaching. However, is the prize a reward for having finished well? Or is the prize salvation itself - and can it be lost? Is everyone who started the race guaranteed a share in the prize? 2009, Apollos, 9781844743698, Paperback, 144 pages £7.80

A SCIENTIFIC THEOLOGY: VOLUME 2

Reality

McGrath, Alister E.

This second volume provides a detailed and thorough examination and defense of the theological realism. Engaging critically with writers such as George Lindbeck and John Millbank, McGrath offers a sparkling and sophisticated affirmation of theological realism against its modern and postmodern critics. His refutation of the claim that the rise of philosophical nonfoundationalism entails the abandoning of any form of realism is of particular importance, as is his application of the highly influential form of 'critical realism' developed by Roy Bhaskar.

SOLID GROUND

25 Years Of Evangelical Theology

Trueman, Carl; Gray, Tony J.

Evangelical Theology has long sought to provide people with solid ground on which to base their understanding of God, the world and themselves. For many years the theological journal 'Themelios' (which means 'solid ground' in Greek) has played an important part in that endeavour with its articles written for non-experts by world-renowned evangelical theologians on topics of perennial interest. Now selected articles from 'Themelios' have been republished in this book in celebration of its 25th year in circulation.

THE SPIRIT OF HOPE

Theology for a World in Peril

Moltmann, Jurgen

In the twenty-first century, Moltmann tells us, hope is challenged by ideologies and global trends that would deny hope and even life itself. Terrorist violence, social and economic inequality, and most especially the looming crisis of climate change all contribute to a cultural moment of profound despair. However, through his analysis Moltmann reminds us that Christian faith has much to say in response to a despairing world.

THE SPREADING FLAME

The Rise and Progress of Christianity from Its First Beginnings to the Conversion of the English

Bruce, F. F.

This history of the early Christian Church divides the complex story into three sections. The first, "The Dawn of Christianity," deals with the Church from its infancy to the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. The second, "The Growing Day," continues the story up to the accession of Constantine in A.D. 313 and the Church's consequent official status. "Light in the West," the final part, is about Christianity in Rome and its spread to the British Isles.

A Compendious View of Natural and Revealed Religion

Brown, John

Brown’s systematic theology was first published in 1782 at the request of theological students. In seven books, it covers the traditional topics of revelation, God, man, Christ, personal salvation, and the church. It contains more than 26,000 proof texts and numerous exegetical insights along with a consistent covenantal emphasis, experiential depth, and compelling applications. Brown’s style is methodological, including numerous divisions and sub-points to aid students, and his content is full of evangelical piety.

THE DECADES OF HENRY BULLINGER

Volumes 1 & 2

Bullinger, Henri

Henry Bullinger was one of the most widely esteemed leaders of the Reformation Churches. The Decades was the most famous of the 150 treatises and manuscripts that he wrote, deriving its name from being a series of fifty theological addresses divided into five groups of ten. Each address is a helpful, detailed exposition of an important doctrine. Combined, they provide an overview of the Christian faith suitable for the everyday Christian.

Johnson argues that theology has to be integrally connected to the traditions and practices of the church. If academic theology is to be genuinely theological, then it has to be carried out in obedience to Christ and in service to the church. Johnson avoids the usual overview of doctrines according to the creed, which traditionally move from the Trinity to eschatology. Johnson explains theology by describing the Christian life. Theology is itself a way of following after Christ in faith.

A THEOLOGY OF SUFFERING*Arthur, J. Bryson*

Contemplating the suffering of Christ and other biblical figures, J. Bryson Arthur investigates a theology of suffering that testifies to its necessity within the plan of God. Bryson reminds us that the nature of suffering is to share fellowship with Christ – to take up one's cross and follow him. Thus, suffering is not arbitrary but intrinsic to the path God has laid before our feet: a path leading to restoration, wholeness, and fullness of life.

Prolegomena

Van Mastricht, Petrus

Volume 1, Prolegomena, provides an introduction to doing systematic theology. Mastricht begins by addressing the nature of theology, wherein he lays out the proper method, subject matter, and definition of theology. He then discusses Scripture as the rule of doing theology, as it is the only infallible source and foundation for knowing God. Finally, Mastricht gives his rationale for the best distribution of theological topics.

Reclaiming Nicene Orthodoxy in Evangelical Theology

Bird, Michael F.; Harrower, Scott

In response to complementarian theologians who assert that the Son is eternally subordinate to the Father, the contributors to Trinity Without Hierarchy contend that this view misconstrues the orthodox doctrine of the Trinity and reduces the Son to a lower level of glory and majesty than the Father. Surveying Scripture, church history, and theology, sixteen contributors present a defense of the full and equal authority of all three members of the Trinity while critiquing approaches that border on semi-Arianism.

Exploring The Nicene Faith

Irving, Alexander

The Nicene-Constantinopolitan Creed of ad 381 was a key statement in the context of the theological controversies and confessional atmosphere of the fourth-century church. Alexander Irving explores Christian belief about God, creation and redemption, as it is expressed in the Creed. He thereby contributes to the continuing task of the church's self-examination of its talk about God.

An Introduction to Christian Doctrine Through the Apostles' Creed

Bird, Michael F.

Modern Christians have often hesitated to embrace the ancient creeds because of our "nothing but the Bible" tradition. Bird opens our eyes to the possibilities of the Apostle's Creed as a way to explore and understand the basic teachings of the Christian faith. Bringing together theological commentary, tips for application, and memorable illustrations, he summarizes the basic tenets of the Christian faith using the Apostle's Creed as its entryway.

The Gospel in Ecclesiastes

Ryken, Philip Graham

Ecclesiastes is for people who have their doubts about God, but can't stop thinking about him. The author of Ecclesiastes had his doubts too, and these have enabled him to speak to sceptics and believers through the centuries. Ecclesiastes is rich in literary artistry and multi-layered depths of spiritual meaning. Ryken explores this wonderful book, and reminds us again of the need to trust God with the questions, even when we do not have all the answers.

BIBLICAL THEOLOGY

The God of the Christian Scriptures

Goldingay, John

Imagine someone who has spent a lifetime listening deeply and attentively to the full range of Scripture's testimony. Stepping back, they now describe what they have seen and heard. What emerges is a theological cathedral, laid out on the great vectors of Scripture and fitted with biblically sourced materials. This is what John Goldingay has done. Well known for his three-volume Old Testament Theology, he has now risen to the challenge of a biblical theology.

Prophetic Speech and Action in Christian Witness

Gary, Tyra

Gary Tyra employs a biblical theology of the Holy Spirit to deepen and inform our understanding of life as the church, the people of God. Since the church's mission to and into the world is both evangelistic and prophetic, the task calls for the working of the Spirit in our preaching, proclamation and service. Tyra brings together both charismatic and evangelical emphases resulting in a theological and practical synthesis that is richer than when either is taken separately.

The Mosaic of Early Christian Pneumatology

Hughes, Kyle R.; Bates, Matthew W.

Kyle Hughes tells the often-neglected story of how and why the early church came to recognize that the Holy Spirit was a distinct divine person. While the subject of Christ's divinity is a popular topic in church and academy alike, the notion of the Spirit's divinity remains a mysterious yet intriguing question for many Christians today. This important contribution not only explains, from a historical yet accessible perspective, the development of early Christian pneumatology but also challenges readers to apply these insights from the church fathers to engaging with the person of the Holy Spirit today.

How Perspectives in Human Knowledge Imitate the Trinity

Poythress, Vern S.

Every human being has a distinct perspective and experiences truth from this viewpoint. If God exists in three persons, as the Bible teaches, is it possible to discern epistemological perspectives that originate from this mystery? Once we understand that God is Trinitarian, we can see numerous reflections of his Trinitarian character in general and in special revelation. This book explores the relationship between numerous triads and God's Trinitarian character, and shows that many triads reveal analogies to the Trinity.

THE LOVE OF GOD

A Canonical Model

Peckham, John C.

Peckham offers a comprehensive canonical interpretation of divine love in dialogue with, and at times in contrast to classical and process theism. God's love, he argues, is freely willed, evaluative, emotional and reciprocal, given before but not without conditions. According to Peckham, the God who loves the world is perfect and passible, self-sufficient and desirous of reciprocal relationships with each person, so that "whoever believes in him shall not perish, but have eternal life."

God's Perfecting Presence in Creation, Redemption, and Everyday Life

Horton, Michael S.

Horton introduces the neglected person of the Holy Spirit, showing that the work of God's Spirit is more ordinary and common than we realize. Horton argues that we need to take a step back every now and again to focus on the Spirit himself – his person and work – in order to recognize him as someone other than Jesus or ourselves, much less something in creation. Through this contemplation we gain fresh dependence on the Spirit in every area of life.

The Power of God for Salvation

Lowther, Roland J

This book reveals how Paul uses a sequence of highly-relevant metaphors to frame his holistic message of salvation. Whilst affirming Jesus Christ as the heart of Paul's soteriology, this book advocates that the relationship of the Spirit to the Gospel engenders in Paul's presentation a certain coherency and potency that many Christians fail to capture. For discerning Christians seeking encouragement from a clear presentation of this timeless truth, this book is an indispensable read.

The Practice of Living by the Spirit

Lowther, Roland J

This remarkable book investigates Paul's concept of living by the Spirit. The radical conclusion of the book is that the Spirit-influenced Christian; engaged in a Spirit-endowed Church; aware of a Spirit-ordered world; under the authoritative guidance of a Spirit-inspired Word, lives a Spirit-coordinated life to the glory of God. A must read for those who wish to walk in God's ways.

Divine Purity and Power

Keener, Craig S.

Craig Keener carefully examines the New Testament Gospels and the book of Acts to provide a fuller understanding of what the Holy Spirit meant in the lives of early believers. Christianity did not arise in a vacuum, but rather it appropriated, modified, and utilized the Jewish understanding of the work of the Holy Spirit. By understanding the world in which Christianity emerged, we can better understand the earliest believers' experience of God's empowering and purifying Spirit.

A Universal Affirmation

Moltmann, Jürgen

Veteran readers will find here a rich and subtle extension of Moltmann's trinitarian and christological works, even as he makes bold use of key insights from feminist and ecological theologies, from recent attention to embodiment, and from charismatic movements. Newcomers will find a fascinating entree into the heart of his work: the transformative potential of the future.

A Trinitarian Theology of Grace

Yong, Amos

Pentecostal theologian Amos Yong points readers toward an increased theological emphasis on God as love. In Spirit of Love, the first pneumatology of the divine spiritual gift of love, Yong constructs ecumenical and interdisciplinary theology of the Holy Spirit for the church universal. A distinctive contribution toward greater theological reflection on the triune God, Spirit of Love moves readers toward a more complete understanding of God as the source of divine love.

SUFFERING AND SOVEREIGNTY

John Flavel and the Puritans on Afflictive Providence

Cosby, Brian H.

Cosby examines Flavel's teachings on suffering and how that theology translated into practical application for suffering believers. Serious consideration is given to issues related to the origin and nature of suffering, how it relates to divine sovereignty, God's purpose for it, how people were encouraged to respond to it, and the benefits of comfort and consolation such understandings produce in believers. Cosby ably gathers these elements together so as to present a Puritan theology of suffering drawn from Flavel's writings.

Beholding the Mystery of Jesus' Death and Resurrection

Anyabwile, Thabiti M.

The Bible implores us to take a long look at Jesus, forcefully beckoning us to "come and see" through profound questions connected with Jesus' death and resurrection. Questions drive us to consider not just the events themselves but also their meaning as we look beneath the surface and find more of the never-ending treasures of Christ. Anyabwile invites you to set aside your early lessons on politeness and stare into the mystery of the cross and empty tomb.

This book makes accessible to lay readers the arguments laid out in Jesus and the Victory of God (SPCK, 1996). But Wright does more than just rehash these arguments: he adds a discussion of the resurrection, and addresses the prickly problem of relevance. In the first six chapters, he tackles many of the questions of the historical Jesus debate. He then addresses how all these historical-cum-theological issues are significant for Christians living in a postmodern world.

Did the early Christians misrepresent Jesus?

Bray, Gerald L.

The question: "Did the early Christians misrepresent Jesus?" has dominated modern theological discussion to such an extent that the history and development of the Church is widely regarded as a corruption of the original gospel message. The doctrines and practices of the first Christian communities have come under suspicion, and in some quarters they have been quite openly rejected by those who want a fundamentally different kind of Christianity.

The Life-Changing Power Of The Death Of Jesus

Meynell, Mark

The crucifixion of Jesus: dreadful mistake? Tragic failure? Irrelevant? Absurd? An embarrassment? The cross of Christ is, in fact, at the centre of God's plan for men and women. 'Cross examined' explains why. Using a wealth of illustration, Mark Meynell looks with freshness and clarity at the Bible's teaching, to show how God himself 'cross-examines' us in the death of Jesus. At the cross, God exposes our deepest need, meets it fully and enables us to live transformed lives.

An Evangelical Theology of Holy Saturday

Emerson, Matthew Y.

The descent of Jesus Christ to the dead has been a fundamental tenet of the Christian faith, as indicated by its inclusion in both the Apostles' and Athanasian Creeds. But it has also been the subject of suspicion and scrutiny, especially from evangelicals. Led by the mystery and wonder of Holy Saturday, Matthew Emerson offers an exploration of the biblical, historical, theological, and practical implications of the descent.

Historiography, the Historical Jesus, and Atonement Theory

McKnight, Scot

Recent scholarship on the historical Jesus has rightly focused upon how Jesus understood his own mission. But no scholarly effort to understand the mission of Jesus can rest content without exploring the historical possibility that Jesus envisioned his own death. In this careful and far-reaching study, Scot McKnight contends that Jesus did in fact anticipate his own death, that Jesus understood his death as an atoning sacrifice, and that his death as an atoning sacrifice stood at the heart of Jesus' own mission to protect his own followers from the judgment of God.

JESUS MANIFESTO

Restoring the Supremacy and Sovereignty of Jesus Christ

Sweet, Leonard; Viola, Frank

We know a lot about our Lord, but we don't know Him very well. We know a lot about trying to be like Jesus, but very little about living by His indwelling life. Jesus Manifesto provides clarity on the most important points of our faith. It is a prophetic call to restore the supremacy and sovereignty of Christ in a world and church that has lost sight of Him.

JESUS THE GOD-MAN

The Unity and Diversity of the Gospel Portrayals

Bock, Darrell L.; Simpson, Benjamin I.

This introduction surveys what the Gospels tell us about Jesus by exploring his teachings and actions in their contexts, presenting fresh ways to understand the Gospels, especially the Synoptics in comparison with John. The Gospels are treated as reliable sources for a plausible portrait of Jesus and the authors open fresh ways to appreciate how the Gospels work. Gospel themes are treated, with the distinct emphases in each Gospel, demonstrating why four Gospels are better than one combined account.

MICHAEL AND THE DRAGON, OR CHRIST TEMPTED & SATAN FOILED

Dyke, Daniel

Though the language of this book is old, the matters it addresses are contemporary. Dyke argues that it is impossible to be a Christian and not to encounter Satan. He puts it this way: "What we get and gain from Satan by Repentance, he seeks to regain and to recover his Temptations. We must not think to pass quietly out of Egypt without Pharaoh's pursuit, nor to travel through the wilderness of this world without the opposition of the Amalekites."

THE MOMENTOUS EVENT

Grier, W. J.

This little volume sets forth what most Calvinistic teachers believe concerning "the Second Advent and questions related thereto". With orthodox Christians of every age, the author holds that our Lord's return will be personal, visible, sudden and unexpected, glorious and triumphant. Of three views styled respectively post-millennialism, pre-millennialism and non-millennialism, he advocates the last named as scriptural and shows that it has been maintained by a large majority of the Fathers and Reformers of the Church.

Humankind

BEGINNING FROM MAN AND WOMAN

Witnessing Christ's Love in the Family

Wong, Bernard K.

Engaging with contemporary thought on love and family, Wong argues our notion of love has been deeply influenced by modern technological culture and political ideologies, to the detriment of familial relationships. He presents a notion of Christ's love bearing the characteristics of fraternal, incarnational, and unfolding love, pertinent to relationships between husbands and wives, parents and children, and families and their neighbours. Through practicing Christ's love we strengthen familial relationships and show Christ to the world.

A BETTER STORY

God, Sex And Human Flourishing

Harrison, Glynn

Harrison argues that if Christians believe they have good news in the sphere of sexual ethics, then two big tasks lie ahead. First is to work out what has gone so badly wrong in our understanding and application of what the Bible teaches and the way we have presented it to the non-churched. Then we must offer a better story, one that fires the imagination with such force that people will say, 'I want that to be true.'

OUR BODIES TELL GOD'S STORY

Discovering the Divine Plan for Love, Sex, and Gender

West, Christopher

In our post-sexual-revolution world, we must remember that our bodies tell a divine story, proclaiming the gospel itself. In the call to become "one flesh," our bodies reveal a "great mystery" that mirrors Christ's love for the church (Eph. 5:31-32). This book provides a redemptive rather than repressive approach to sexual purity, explores the true meaning of sex and marriage, and offers a compelling vision of what it means to be created male and female.

An earnest word with those seeking salvation

Spurgeon, Charles H.

"A certain man placed a fountain by the wayside, and he hung up a cup near to it by a little chain. He was told some time after that a great art-critic had found much fault with its design. "But," said he, "do many thirsty persons drink at it?" They told him that thousands of poor people, men, women, and children, slaked their thirst at this fountain; he smiled and said, he was little troubled by the critic's observation.

ALL THINGS NEW

Heaven, Earth, and the Restoration of Everything You Love

Eldredge, John

This book about our future is based on that heaven is not our eternal home, the New Earth is. As Jesus says in Matthew, the next chapter of our story begins with "the renewal of all things," by which he means the earth we love in all its beauty, our own selves, and the things that make for a rich life: music, art, food, laughter and all we hold dear. Everything shall be renewed "when the world is made new."

The Way, the Truth, and the Life

Brown, John

Christ the Way, the Truth, and the Life is John Brown of Wamphray's most practical, experiential work. It provides spiritual counsel on living the Christian life as it ought to be lived – centering on Christ, mortifying sin, loving the souls of others, and glorifying God. This classic reprint excels in teaching believers how to make use of Christ in a variety of ways on a daily basis.

Theodore Beza's A Clear and Simple Treatise on the Lord's Supper (1559) advances a tireless defense of the Reformed perspective on the Lord's Supper, responding chapter by chapter to specific arguments raised against John Calvin by his Lutheran opponent Joachim Westphal. Beza makes great use of the concept of metonymy, or a figure of speech, in his interpretation of the words of institution, yet he equally champions the position that the Lord's Supper is not a bare symbol.

Discerning real and false notions of Holiness

Pink, Arthur W.

Pink is acknowledged as one of the deeper thinkers of his era on subjects of doctrine and Christian living. He felt only able to write this book after studying the subject for over 25 years; previous to this he felt he was too immature and unscriptural. Questions answered in this book include - Is sanctification something believers have, or something they experience?

Essays in Honor of M. Douglas Meeks

Moltmann, Jurgen; Eberhart, Timothy R.

The essays of this volume were written to honor Meeks, professor of theology at Vanderbilt Divinity School, by addressing the theme of God's economy of salvation from biblical, historical, ecclesial, and theological perspectives. In an age of ecological devastation and economic injustice, Meeks teaches us how to place our hope – as disciples of Jesus, as members of local congregations, as stewards of institutional life, and as global citizens – in God's power for life over death through Jesus and the Spirit.

Arthur W. Pink gives many reasons for why eternal security is important. For one thing, it is necessary in order to strengthen young and fearful Christians in their faith-by safeguarding the honor and integrity of God and His Word. And it is also necessary in order to preserve one of the grand and distinctive blessings of the Gospel, which to deny is to attack the very foundations of the believer's comfort and assurance.

Stories of Conversion and Apostasy

McKnight, Scot; Ondrey, Hauna

This book examines conversion stories as told by people who have actually undergone a conversion experience, including experiences of apostasy, revealing that there is not just one "conversion story." McKnight and Ondrey show that "conversion theory" helps explain why some people walk away from one religion, often to another, very different religion. The book's sensitive detailing of the stories themselves makes conversion more than a theoretical occurrence; it makes the immediacy, and often the difficulty, of conversion both real and moving.

GOSPEL ASSURANCE AND WARNINGS*Washer, Paul*

It should come as no surprise that misunderstandings about the gospel message and the nature of true conversion result in a problem with genuine assurance of salvation. In Gospel Assurance and Warnings, Paul Washer shines the light of gospel hope as he cautions against the dangers of making an empty profession of faith and carefully explains from Scripture the basis for establishing and maintaining a sound assurance of faith.

MAKING A MEAL OF IT

Rethinking the Theology of the Lord's Supper

Witherington III, Ben

This book explores the background and implication of the Lord's Supper. Delving into its historical and Scriptural origins, Witherington argues that the Lord's Supper is a sacramental celebration of the community of God, designed to incorporate people of varying backgrounds. Excavating the diverse ways in which Scripture and early Christian tradition speak about the Lord's Supper, Witherington advocates that the meal is primarily about who the people of God are and how they should thus live together.

MISSIONARY OF RECONCILIATION

The Role of the Doctrine of Reconciliation in the Preaching of Bishop Festo Kivengere of Uganda between 1971-1988

Olwa, Alfred

Bishop Festo Kivengere of Uganda (1919-1988) is one of the most widely known African evangelical leaders. Central to his ministry, he preached the Christian doctrine of reconciliation into a Uganda where Christians lived under the horrors of Idi Amin's rule and its aftermath. Dr. Alfred Olwa carefully examines 26 of Kivengere's sermons from a biblical and theological perspective to better understand his theme of reconciliation.

THE MORTIFICATION OF SIN

Dealing with sin in your life

Owen, John

John Owen insisted on the importance of the Christian dealing effectively with their sinful tendencies and attitudes. He believed that God, through his Word and Spirit, had provided the guidelines and the power for this to be achieved. In this book, John Owen effectively dismisses various excuses for not engaging in self-scrutiny and yet avoids the current trend of self-absorption. In so doing he provides principles to help believers live lives of holiness.

NO CONDEMNATION

A Theology of Assurance of Salvation

Eaton, Michael A.

This is a new, fully revised, edited and updated edition of Michael Eaton's magisterial study of the biblical, theological, and historical dimensions of assurance in the life of a Christian believer. He challenges both traditional Arminian and Calvinist views, in which salvation and good works are too tightly bound together, by drawing a clear distinction between salvation and reward.

PREPARED BY GRACE, FOR GRACE

The Puritans on God's Way of Leading Sinners to Christ

Beeke, Joel R.; Smalley, Paul

Few teachings of the Puritans have provoked such strong reactions and conflicting interpretations as their views on preparing for saving faith. Many twentieth-century scholars dismissed preparation as a prime example of regression from the Reformed doctrine of grace for a man-centered legalism. In this book the authors make careful analysis of the Puritan understanding of preparatory grace, demonstrate its fundamental continuity with the Reformed tradition, and identify matters where even the Puritans disagreed among themselves.

£10.70THE QUEST FOR FULL ASSURANCE

The Legacy of Calvin and His Successors

Beeke, Joel R.

Joel R. Beeke analyzes the doctrine of assurance of faith in the theology of Calvin and the Reformed tradition after him. His conclusion is that Calvin and post-Reformation Reformed theologians substantially share the teaching on assurance, differing only in matters of degree. Therefore, the teachings of 17th century Reformed theology, as characterized in chapter 18 of the Westminster Confession of Faith, is an advancement of the 16th century Reformers rather than a departure.

WHY SALVATION?Green, Joel B.

This book invites to a journey of salvation oriented toward increased understanding but also to transformed commitments, renewed allegiances, and fresh practices. To address the grand narrative of Scripture in a way that takes seriously its essential focus on the journey of salvation is to open ourselves to fresh and refreshed perspectives on the world and on life. Green shows how salvation illumines new categories for conceiving the world, making sense of our experiences, and directing our lives.

DEMONOLOGY FOR THE GLOBAL CHURCH

A Biblical Approach in a Multicultural Age

MacDonald, Scott D.

Demonology for the Global Church endeavors to provide the biblical and theological essentials for a unified Christian perspective of the demonic. Avoiding speculation and anecdotal evidence, Scott D. MacDonald roots his analysis in Scripture. He frames a biblical demonology in light of global and contextual concerns, offering an understanding that avoids the pitfalls of anti-supernaturalism and over emphasis. If the church is to effectively overcome its spiritual adversaries, Christians from around the world must stand and resist together.

ESCHATOLOGY

Biblical, Historical, and Practical Approaches

Bingham, D. Jeffrey

We live today in a world whose problems far surpass our ability to manage them. Social unrest and growing intolerance at home, terrorism abroad, worldwide simmering ecological and financial crises – the changes escalating on this planet point to a daunting future. What we desperately need is hope. Hope is what the Bible offers. From Genesis to Revelation, it points toward God's coming kingdom.

KINGDOM COME

The Amillennial Alternative

Storms, Sam

The second coming of Christ is a matter of sharp disagreement amongst Christians. Many hold to premillennialism: that Christ's return will be followed by 1,000 years before the final judgement, a belief popularised in the popular Left Behind novels. However, premillennialism is not the only option for Christians. In this important new book, Sam Storms provides a biblical rationale for amillennialism; that the 1,000 years mentioned in Revelation is symbolic with the emphasis being the King and his Kingdom.

Patterns of Millennial Thought in Early Christianity

Hill, Charles E.

Regnum Caelorum is a groundbreaking book that explores the largely overlooked connection in early Christian thought between understandings of the millennium and the intermediate state of the soul after death. Charles Hill traces Christian views of the soul's fate in Jewish texts, the New Testament, and in early Christian writers through the mid-third century A.D. His findings lead to a provocative new assessment of the development of Christian eschatology that corrects many misconceptions of earlier scholarly research.

The Beatific Vision in Christian Tradition

Boersma, Hans

Seeing God is a historical study, but it also includes a dogmatic articulation of key characteristics that contribute to our understanding of the beatific vision. Theologians, philosophers, and literary authors have long maintained that the invisible God becomes visible to us. Boersma shows how God trains us to see his character by transforming our eyes and minds, highlighting continuity from this world to the next.

Embracing the Apostolic Faith

Gale, Stanley D.

The Apostles' Creed is the most popular summary of the Christian faith. Yet for all its simplicity, the Creed expresses profound truths about God's redemptive work that are full of liturgical, catechetical, confessional, and missional implications. In this book, author Stanley D. Gale familiarizes modern readers with this ancient statement of belief and its demand for a faith that enlightens the mind, enflames the heart, and engages the will with the wonders of God's saving grace.

SOMETHING WORTH LIVING FOR

God, the World, Yourself, and the Shorter Catechism

Greenwald, Randall

Lengthy, heavy, theological tomes have their place, but sometimes we need a simple way of understanding the doctrine that is central to our faith. The Westminster Shorter Catechism is designed to do just that. Randall Greenwald takes the question and answer format that it follows and, in short chapters, encourages us to dig for the gold that is to be found in its pages. Read, and be enriched.

THE SPIRIT OF THE AGE

The 19th Century Debate Over the Holy Spirit and the Westminster Confession

Fesko, J. V.

J. V. Fesko explores the differences between the pre-Enlightenment theology that formed the original Westminster Confession and the post-Enlightenment theology that called for its revision. This study reveals that the pneumatology of the original Westminster Confession is marked by catholicity, whereas the revisions of 1903 represent a doctrine of the Holy Spirit that departed from the common Christianity of the ages.

DETHRONING JESUS

Exposing Popular Culture's Quest to Unseat the Biblical Christ

Bock, Darrell L.; Wallace, Daniel B.

There is a quest going on. It's the quest to reduce Jesus to a mythic legend or to nothing more than a mere man. Scholars such as Elaine Pagels and James Tabor are using such recent discoveries as the Gospel of Judas and the Gospel of Thomas to argue that the Christ of Christianity is a contrived figure and that a different Christ—one human and not divine—is the "true" Christ.

DISSONANT VOICES

Religious Pluralism and the Question of Truth

Netland, Harold A.

In today's religiously pluralistic world, is it theologically and morally acceptable to maintain that one religion is uniquely true and that the others are at best incomplete or even false? Specifically, is Jesus Christ merely a savior, or is he the one and only Savior of human-kind? At the heart of Dissonant Voices lies a strong, well-reasoned defense of Christian exclusivism, which has fallen on hard times in recent years.

ENGAGING UNBELIEF

A Captivating Strategy From Augustine And Aquinas

Chang, Curtis

Curtis Chang has found vital resources for addressing issues of unbelief in the lives of Augustine bishop of Hippo and Dominican priest Thomas Aquinas. These two apologists grounded their response to the shifting cultural sands of their time on Christ's own ministry of transforming love. Through a careful study of Augustine's City of God and Aquinas's Summa Contra Gentiles, Chang has discerned a valuable rhetorical strategy for engaging unbelief in cultural contexts where Christian faith seems less and less plausible.

THE HOLINESS OF GOD

Sproul, R. C.

Central to God's character is the quality of holiness. Yet, even so, most people are hard-pressed to define what God's holiness precisely is. Many preachers today avoid the topic altogether because people today don't quite know what to do with words like "awe" or "fear." R. C. Sproul, in this classic work, puts the holiness of God in its proper and central place in the Christian life.

HOW REASON CAN LEAD TO GOD

A Philosopher's Bridge to Faith

Rasmussen, Joshua

Do you value reason, science, and independent thinking, yet you hope there could be a greater purpose to the universe? Beginning with his own story of losing the belief in any ultimate purpose in life, philosopher Joshua Rasmussen builds a bridge to faith. Using only the instruments of reason and common experience, Rasmussen constructs a pathway that he argues can lead to meaning and, ultimately, a vision of God.

THE JESUS QUEST

Geisler, Norman L.

This work examines the historical and philosophical strengths and/or weaknesses of current evangelical approaches espousing some forms of post-modernistic historiography and its resultant search for the "historical Jesus." It demonstrates the marked undermining impact these efforts have had on the biblical text, especially the Gospels, as well as inerrancy issues. It compares the Jesus Seminar's approach with current evangelical practices of searching in terms of their evidential apologetic impact on the trustworthiness of the Gospels.

JONATHAN EDWARDS CONFRONTS THE GODS

Christian Theology, Enlightenment Religion, & Non-Christian Faiths

McDermott, Gerald R.

It has long been thought that Edwards's polemical arguments were aimed against Arminianism – a doctrine that denied the Calvinist idea of predestination. In this book, Gerald McDermott shows that Edwards's real target was a larger and more influential one, namely deism – the belief in a creator God who does not intervene in His Creation.

Divorce and Remarriage in the Teaching of the New Testament

Keener, Craig S.

Once divorced, forever barred from church leadership – sometimes even from full fellowship. Isn't that what the plain sense of Scripture teaches? No, says Keener. In this compassionate and carefully documented study, he first explores how the early Christians would have understood the statements of Jesus and Paul on divorce and remarriage. Keener then builds a soundly scriptural view of divorce and remarriage – a view that reminds the church that all of its members are forgiven people.

FINDING FORGIVENESS

Discovering the Healing Power of the Gospel

Gale, Stanley D.

If you are a Christian, you have personally experienced the joy of sins forgiven and reconciliation with God. Forgiveness, writes Stanley Gale, "is a divine accomplishment to be savored and offered to others." Forgiveness is the most basic of Christian graces, yet the topic raises many questions. If you are a Christian, you have personally experienced the joy of sins forgiven and reconciliation with God. Forgiveness, writes Stanley Gale, "is a divine accomplishment to be savored and offered to others."

FOUNDATIONS FOR AFRICAN THEOLOGICAL ETHICS

Nkansah-Obrempong, James

Morality is central to the life of every community or society. Our ethical decisions and choices are made based on our convictions about how we perceive God, the world and ourselves. At the core of these convictions are our biblical, religious, social, moral and cultural values that shape our character and behaviour. This book has integrated these values from three contexts - African, Western and Biblical.

GOD IN THE LAB

How Science Enhances Faith

Bancewicz, Ruth M.

This book explores the common ground between science and faith. Science can be unglamorous and tough, but it gives the opportunity to use creativity and imagination, to appreciate the beauty of the natural world, and to experience the joy of finding out new things – thinking God's thoughts after him. Through the eyes of the author and six other experienced scientists, God in the Lab shows how science can build faith in God.

IMAGINING A WAY

Exploring Reformed Practical Theology and Ethics

Pearson, Clive

This book asks how the Reformed tradition understands its calling into the world. What does being Reformed mean for how one engages the ills of racism, white supremacy, and homophobia? What does it mean for an environmental ethic? How does Reformed preaching and liturgy respond to sexual violence? Readers will come away with a firmer grasp of how the Reformed tradition informs and animates Christian engagement with the world.

IN HIS IMAGE

Understanding and Embracing the Poor

Matheson, Andy

Andy Matheson, Oasis International Director, argues that we can only begin to understand poverty, its effects, and possible solutions when we focus on the truth that all people are made in God's image. God calls us to meet with the poor not primarily to offer services or to develop programs, but to develop.

JUSTICE

Rights and Wrongs

Wolterstorff, Nicholas

Wide-ranging and ambitious, Justice combines moral philosophy and Christian ethics to develop an important theory of rights and of justice as grounded in rights. Wolterstorff discusses what it is to have a right, and he locates rights in the respect due the worth of the rights-holder. After contending that socially-conferred rights require the existence of natural rights, he argues that no secular account of natural human rights is successful; he offers instead a theistic account.

MISSION IN ACTION

A Biblical Description Of Missional Ethics

Salter, Martin C.

Missional ethics is concerned with the way in which the believing community's behaviour is, in and of itself, a witness to the wisdom and goodness of God. The debate surrounding the relationship between word and deed remains a significant issue within evangelical missiology. Martin Salter seeks to address the debate by conducting detailed exegesis of key biblical texts. He argues biblical ethics is neither separate from, nor merely preparatory for, mission – it is an integral part of the church's mission.

RECLAIMING LOVE

Radical Relationships in a Complex World

Fernando, Ajith

Fernando's pastoral work – in the midst of the cultural and ethnic tensions of Sri Lanka – often brought up a very real and honest question: "Can the biblical teaching about love actually be practiced?" The answer he discovered is a resounding "yes." The radical love of God is the key to experiencing joy in the pain and suffering of this world. This book offers reflections on the Bible's consistent teaching on love and shares real-life experiences of learning to love in difficult situations.

TRUE SCIENTISTS, TRUE FAITH*Berry, R. J.*

Twenty of the world's leading scientists explain how their science enhances their faith and their faith undergirds their science. Atheistic campaigners continue to claim that science and faith are incompatible. The contributors to this book show the utter falseness of this claim. They come from a range of Christian backgrounds and all are orthodox believers, but significantly, they are all also distinguished scientists, from a variety of disciplines. Each of them gives their own account of how their science and faith intersect and interact in their personal life and thought.

Women and Men in Marriage, Church, and Society

Miller, Rachel Green

Theologically conservative Christians want to embrace a biblical understanding of women and men, but the beliefs of Greeks, Romans, and Victorians have had undue influence on contemporary teaching. Damaging ideas and a narrow focus have created confusion for men and women alike. Rachel Green Miller believes that the dynamics of authority and submission are part of the biblical picture – but they aren't the whole picture. As she examines and corrects conservative teaching on gender, she draws out equally important themes in Scripture that will strengthen our relationship as co-laborers in the kingdom of God.

BOASTING

When We Boast Right, We Live Right, and We Bear Much Fruit to God's Honor

Moody, Josh

In a competitive and self-centred world, living a humble and God-centred life is incredibly challenging. Additionally, when the Bible tells us to 'boast in the hope of the glory of God' our worldly minds are confused. Isn't boasting something that Christians should avoid? In response, Josh Moody studies Paul's intention in Romans 5:2 and aims to improve your understanding of it in an easily readable way.

THE BONDAGE OF THE WILL

Luther, Martin

Free will was no academic question to Luther; the whole Gospel of the grace of God, he held, was bound up with it, and stood or fell according to the way one decided it. . . . It is not the part of a true theologian, Luther holds, to be unconcerned, or to pretend to be unconcerned, when the Gospel is in danger. . . . The doctrine of the Bondage of the Will was the cornerstone of the Gospel and the foundation of faith.

THE BUSY CHRISTIAN'S GUIDE TO BUSYNESS

Chester, Tim

While offering practical help to busy Christians, Chester also opts for root-and-branch treatment: you need to deal radically with the things that are driving you. At the root of our 'slavery' are serious misunderstandings, often reinforced by our culture. It's important to manage our time, but it's more important to manage our hearts. God has promised his rest to all who are weary and burdened (Matthew 11:28). It's up to us to accept it.

CHAOS OR CONTROL?

Authority in Crisis in Church and State

Bradshaw, Timothy

Western society is in the process of undergoing profound changes in moral ethos and in the structure of relationships as more and more areas of life are commodified. The Church is now having to grapple with the challenges to its authority-patterns posed by contemporary individualism, reductionism, consumerism and moral relativism. This book seeks to address theologically the question of authority in terms of the poles of freedom and form. The book maintains that Western, liberal, capitalist democracy needs to recover a Christian ethical basis to avoid the dangers of both chaos and of control

CHILDREN'S PERCEPTIONS OF THE ROLE OF BIBLICAL NARRATIVES IN THEIR SPIRITUAL FORMATION

George, Annie

In the Bible, storytelling is an important means to pass on the revelation of God. God repeatedly commanded Israel to tell his mighty acts to the next generation. Churches follow this mandate and use biblical narratives as a means to transmit God's self-revelation to enable transformation. Dr George listens to the voices of children between the ages of 9–11 years to understand their perceptions of how storytelling of biblical narratives helps their spiritual formation.

THE CHRISTIAN'S ONLY COMFORT IN LIFE AND DEATH

An Exposition of the Heidelberg Catechism, 2 Vols.

VanderGroe, Theodorus

A sermonic exposition of the Heidelberg Catechism by Theodore VanderGroe (1705–1784). VanderGroe's exposition of the Heidelberg Catechism could be considered his magnum opus, and it was esteemed as highly by the godly in the Netherlands as The Christian's Reasonable Service of Wilhelmus à Brakel. In this able exposition we find the unmistakable characteristics of the Dutch Further Reformation: it is steeped in Scripture; it is very pastoral; and it promotes a robust, comprehensive form of Reformed piety.

Seeing Ourselves in the Pharisees

Hovestol, Tom

They despised the teaching of the Messiah who came to save them. They were the objects of Jesus' harshest statements. They crucified our Lord. But if you take a good look in the mirror, they look an awful lot like us. In this honest, eye-opening book, author Tom Hovestol examines the life of the Pharisees. Exploring their historical and biblical roots, he discovers truths that will challenge any believer who has 'grown up' in the church.

Exegetical, Biblical, and Theological Studies

Bird, Michael F.; Sprinkle, Preston M.

Issues of considerable theological import hinge on how we interpret pistis christou. Does it mean "faith in Christ" or "the faithfulness of Christ"? This book brings creative new proposals to bear on the problem, and orients the discussion in the wider spectrum of historical, biblical, and systematic theology. This book grapples with the significance of Jesus' faithfulness and obedience for Christian salvation and the extent to which it is represented in key biblical texts.

Becoming A Liberated Disciple

Valentine, John

'This book grounds discipleship in the life of the individual and the church, but sees its outworking as being in the world.' Jesus doesn't call us to a journey of guilt and failure, stuffy religion or a kind of churchy straitjacket. He calls us to a life of obedience, harmony, joy and peace. It's about becoming a new and different person through the cross of Jesus, and then finding that in Jesus we have found our truest and most authentic selves.

Recovering the Art of Christian Persuasion

Guinness, Os

In our post-Christian context, public life has become markedly more secular and private life infinitely more diverse. Yet many Christians still rely on cookie-cutter approaches to evangelism and apologetics. Most of these methods assume that people are open, interested and needy for spiritual insight when increasingly most people are not. Our urgent need, then, is the capacity to persuade - to make a convincing case for the gospel to people who are not interested in it.

An Evangelical Theology Of Religions

Strange, Daniel

In today's world, Christians are acutely aware of the questions posed not simply by the existence of other religions, but also by their apparent flourishing. The theology of religions is arguably the issue for mission in the twenty-first century. This book offers a detailed, comprehensive and biblically faithful analysis that deals with not only the question of salvation but also questions of truth, and a host of practical issues pertaining to apologetics and contextualization.

125 Years Of Student Witness

Barclay, Oliver R.; Horn, Robert M.

The small group of Christian students active in Cambridge in the 1820s hardly expected their work to have remarkable effects. Yet out of 'the Jesus Lane lot', as they were nicknamed, grew the Cambridge Inter-Collegiate Christian Union (CICCU), whose influence has been world-wide. Oliver Barclay and Bob Horn tell the story of the CICCU to mark its 125th anniversary. The life and times of this Christian Union are interwoven with evangelical Christianity and some of its most significant figures.

The Cure for Backsliding

Beeke, Joel R.

Every Christian faces numerous discouragements in striving to follow Christ. Our knees go weak and our hands hang down when we face personal failure, when others let us down, or when providence denies our desires. Disappointment can lead to discouragement, and discouragement may end in doubt, fear, and even despair. But we must press on, firm in the confidence that we run alongside other believers, that we run a well-trodden course, and that we run with God's inexhaustible assistance and support.

Discovering the Heart of the Father through the Life of the Son

Hutto, Abby Ross

Abby Hutto points out that each work of Jesus narrated in John reveals an aspect of God's character and nature. Here she presents thirteen of these stories that show, through Jesus, who God is. Each one is accompanied by a testimonial of how modern-day believers have applied these truths to their own lives. These personal and Bible stories, along with further Scripture and personal-application and discussion questions, will show us that God is for us and draws our confused, distrusting hearts back to himself.

A Critique Of Open Theism

Ware, Bruce A.

Christians throughout history have been strengthened by their confidence that God knows everything about the future. Open theism claims to a more biblical and more practical alternative to traditional views of God's sovereignty and involvement in our lives. Ware carefully summarises and critiques this redefinition of the nature of God. He provides an excellent treatment of classical and open theism, explores their implications and pinpoints the ways in which open theism undermines our trust in God and lessens his glory.

The apostle Paul gave the gospel the first place in his preaching. Yet many, even among those considering themselves evangelicals, have reduced the gospel message to a few trite statements to be repeated, and view conversion as a mere human decision. This book challenges such easy believism as it examines the real meaning of things like faith, repentance, and receiving Christ. It also deals with the effects of saving grace that God promises in the new covenant.

Freedom in Christ

Smart, Dominic

What is legalism? Wearing hats? Not wearing hats? What is freedom from legalism? Legalism is, he points out, the belief that we can make and keep ourselves right with God by the keeping of rules and regulations. Pointing out how often churches collude in this deception, he gives us the antidotes to legalism and shows us how it robs the Christian of joy and assurance, but also robs God of the glory that is rightfully His.

The Original Good News Revisited

McKnight, Scot

Contemporary evangelicals have built a "salvation culture" but not a "gospel culture" and reduced the gospel to the message of personal salvation. The book stands on four arguments: the gospel is the completion of the Story of Israel in the saving Story of Jesus; the gospel is found in the Four Gospels; the gospel was preached by Jesus; the sermons in Acts are the best example of gospeling. McKnight ends with practical suggestions about evangelism and building a gospel culture.

LIVING WITNESS

Explorations In Missional Ethics

Draycott, Andy; Rowe, Jonathan

Because God calls his people to be a living witness to him, morality is mission. Conversely, immorality is 'anti-mission', a failure to give true testimony or witness. This, in essence, is the theme of this stimulating and challenging volume. The whole life of the people of God, not just verbal proclamation, testifies to the church's faith - or lack of faith - in her Lord.

MARRIAGE, FAMILY AND RELATIONSHIPS

Biblical, Doctrinal And Contemporary Perspectives

Noble, Thomas; Whittle, Sarah; Johnston, Philip S.

This book includes essays on sexuality, marriage, family life, singleness, same-sex relationships, violence against women, anthropology, gender and culture. They balance loyalty to the church's historic and biblical teaching with a recognition that all doctrine is contextualized. There is a gap between the ethics of Christians and those of wider society. But the church has to be self-critical, differentiating between biblical revelation and cultural development and must know how to present unchanging Christian convictions to constantly changing society.

The Spiritual Life According To Henri Nouwen

Hernandez, Wil

Nouwen's compelling spirituality of the heart is at once simple and complex, accessible but deeply profound. For this Catholic theologian, spirituality is simply 'attention to the life of the spirit in us'. Hernandez's sensitive distillation of Nouwen's vast literary legacy invites us to take courage and be still, creating space for God and our true selves. Hernandez offers an elegant synthesis of Nouwen's main themes, inspiring us to embrace the power and vulnerability of mere spirituality.

Christ's Deliverance of a Sangoma

Ntsha, Moss

Francinah Baloyi was sixteen when the ancestors demanded that she continue the family tradition and be trained as a sangoma, one through whom the spirits would speak. She was twenty-three when Christ appeared to her in vision and cast out those spirits, showed her heaven and hell, brought her to repentance, and commissioned her to proclaim him. Today, she is a powerful preacher, who has led many to Christ. Her story challenges the syncretism threatening the church in Africa.

The early missionaries brought Christianity from the monogamous West to the polygamous societies of Africa. Were the missionaries right in demanding that converts dismiss all but one wife? Mlenga argues that while polygamy is an African reality, it is below Christian moral standards. However is stopping converted polygamous men and women from baptism best practice if sin can be forgiven for the one who repents? Can the shedding of responsibility for wives and children be a precondition for such forgiveness?

PURE JOY

Rediscover Your Conscience

Ash, Christopher

Conscience is the Cinderella of the contemporary world. We hardly speak or think about our conscience. And yet conscience is a God-given part of being human, with tremendous potential for good - if it is cleansed and kept clean - or for harm - if it becomes hardened or calloused. Christopher is eager to get all of us thinking about conscience again: 'I want you to take your conscience out of the cupboard, dust it down, bring it back into daily life and discover its power to do you good.'

Veteran Suicide, Grieving, and the Fight for Faith

Holler, Josh

Twenty-two veterans take their own lives every day. The word 'tragic' only begins to describe the brokenness of this painful reality. Josh Holler, Marine Corps veteran and pastor, argues that veteran suicide is not primarily a problem born out of exposure to combat and PTSD, but out of a broken relationship between people and God. He tells some of the stories of men he has known and addresses the reality of the reason veteran suicide is such a problem.

The Dynamic Power Of The Reformation In Galatians

Chester, Tim

The title derives from Galatians 4:15. The Galatians had lost the joy of God's blessing because they had departed from the truths of the gospel. The Reformation is an invitation to rediscover the joy of the gospel. Despite the common claim that the Reformation is either out-dated or divisive, its rediscovery of the apostolic message was a rediscovery of joy - a message that is as relevant today as it was 500 years ago and 2,000 years ago.

Fresh Perspectives on Disputed Texts

Peppiatt, Lucy

Does God call women to serve as equal partners in marriage and as leaders in the church? With careful exegetical work, Lucy Peppiatt considers relevant passages in Ephesians, Colossians, 1 Peter, 1 Timothy, and 1 Corinthians. There she finds a story of God releasing women alongside men into all forms of ministry, leadership, work, and service on the basis of character and gifting, rather than biological sex.

Miracle-Working, Commissioning And Discipleship

Hacking, Keith

Signs and wonders are emphases associated with the 'Third Wave' of contemporary charismatic renewal, particularly influential in the church, across denominations and around the world. Exponents of such emphases claim to reflect discipleship presented in the Gospels and Acts by Jesus and his followers, in which 'signs and wonders' are normative for the church today. Hacking's contention is that Third Wave commentators too often fail to grapple adequately with historical, literary and theological issues that arise from the biblical text.

The Gospel In An Age Of Paganism

Wright, N. T.

'I'm spiritual but not religious.' It's a phrase that's often used to explain why, although they don't go to church, people still feel that life must have some kind of transcendent meaning. Wright traces the parallels between the worldviews of the first and twenty-first centuries, and shows how a better understanding of God as Trinity can breathe fresh life into our understanding and preaching of the gospel today.

THE HEADSHIP OF MEN AND THE ABUSE OF WOMEN

Are They Related In Any Way?

Giles, Kevin N.

Domestic abuse and violence is now of high concern to most churches because it is evident that domestic abuse figures are much the same in our churches, and possibly higher in evangelical churches where the headship of men and the submission of women is made the God-given ideal. In this book, Kevin Giles surveys competently the scientific information on this matter now available and notes that the consensus is that the most sure indicator of higher incidences of abuse are found in communities where men are privileged and expected to be in charge and women are subordinated.

A Parable of Permanence

Piper, John

Reflecting on over forty years of matrimony, John Piper exalts the biblical meaning of marriage, exhorting couples to keep their covenant as a display of Christ's covenant-keeping love for the church. He aims to lift the church's low view of marriage to something infinitely greater, namely, a vision of Jesus's unwavering allegiance to and affection for his bride. This Momentary Marriage unpacks the biblical vision, its unexpected contours, and its weighty implications for married, single, divorced, and remarried alike.

Thinking Differently About God, Suffering and Evil, and Evil

Feinberg, John S.

Christians often assume they're equipped to deal with tragedy if it enters their lives, but like most people, think it never really will. What happens, then, when we follow God's will to the best of our abilities and heartbreak strikes? Do we mean it when we implore "Have Thine own way, Lord" or does that only apply in times of blessings or small, manageable hurts?

WHEN WE GET IT WRONG

Peter, Christ and our Path Through Failure

Smart, Dominic

Failure is part of life. Even (and maybe especially) as Christians, we mess up, we get it wrong, we feel like we have let God down. Peter, one of Jesus' disciples and closest friends, knew how this felt. He got it wrong, but God still used him powerfully to spread the gospel. We see how God brought Peter from failure to fruitfulness, and we can hope that he will do the same for us.

The Spiritual Power of Habit

Smith, James K. A.

Smith shows that who and what we worship fundamentally shape our hearts. We might not realize the ways our hearts are being taught to love rival gods instead of the One for whom we were made. Worship is the "imagination station" that incubates our loves and longings so that our cultural endeavors are indexed toward God. This is why the church and worshiping in a local community of believers should be the hub and heart of Christian formation and discipleship.

Christian Preaching as Worship

Piper, John

John Piper makes a compelling claim in these pages about the purpose of preaching: it is intended not merely as an explanation of the text but also as a means of awakening worship by being worship in and of itself. Christian preaching is a God-appointed miracle aiming to awaken the supernatural seeing, savoring, and showing of the glory of Christ.

THE MATURING CHURCH

An Integrated Approach to Contextualization, Discipleship and Mission

Mamo, Ermias G.

For a church to be considered mature an integrated approach between contextualization, discipleship and mission is required. Globally, the church is facing multiple challenges both from within and from without. Despite the challenges, however, churches in the Majority world continue to grow rapidly. But is this growth in numbers accompanied by spiritual depth? And is this growth built upon biblical and theological foundations, so that the church can play its transforming role in the world?

ONE NEW MAN

The Cross and Racial Reconciliation in Pauline Theology

Williams, Jarvis J.

In the Bible, Paul argues that sin has broken humanity's relationship with God as well as his fellow man, and he recognises Jesus as God's provision for the universal problem of sin. Therefore, Christ's death for our sin is God's only solution to racial hostility and the only provision for racial reconciliation.

EXPOSITORY PREACHING IN A WORLD OF SPIRITUAL NOMINALISM

Exploring the Churches in India's North East

Raih, R. T. Johnson

The spiritual decay of nominalism threatens the church worldwide, yet little attention has been given to the role of homiletics in revitalizing a congregation's spiritual health. In this study, Dr. Johnson Raih explores the impact of preaching. He utilizes interviews and questionnaires to assess the presence of nominalism within church congregations, along with the effects of preaching on spiritual vitality. Raih suggests that expository preaching can confront nominalism within the church. He offers ten practical recommendations for countering nominalism homiletically.

PREACHING WITH BIBLICAL MOTIVATION

How to Incorporate the Motivation Found in the Inspired Preaching of the Apostles into Your Sermons

Heiple, Ray E.

Reformed theology proposes that the Holy Spirit alone makes the preaching of God's Word effectual in salvation and sanctification. How can preachers move the hearts of hearers in ways that please and glorify God without being seen as manipulators? This book traces the development of motivational theories and practices in academia, in the church, and from an assortment of theological persuasions – contrasting them with a study of five sermons in the book of Acts that illustrate biblical principles of motivation.

PREACHING WITH SPIRITUAL POWER

Calvin's Understanding of Word and Spirit in Preaching

Cunnington, Ralph

The nature of the relationship between the Spirit of God and the Word of God has been debated among believers for centuries. Is the Spirit present wherever and whenever the Word is preached? Ralph Cunnington explores this and in particular the narrow historical theological question of what the Protestant Reformers, in particular John Calvin, actually taught on this topic. With careful and incisive scholarship, and writing that is both clear and cogent, we travel through this question.

PREACHING WITH SPIRITUAL VIGOUR

Including lessons from the the Life and practice of Richard Baxter

Capill, Murray A.

Two trends are to be avoided in preaching. One is a subjectivism and entertainment orientation for the crutch of popularity: the other an intellectualism, a zimmer frame encouraging impressions of depth and thoughtfulness. Richard Baxter is regarded as one of the Christian church's models of pastoral practice. From studying Baxter's preaching ministry Capill has constructed a useful framework for us to follow. Not theoretical or historical in orientation, it seeks to inspire and assist pastors to greater preaching vitality.

PULPIT AFLAME

Essays in Honor of Steve Lawson

Beeke, Joel R.; Bengel, Dustin W.

The apostle Paul instructed Timothy to "preach the word! . . . Convince, rebuke, exhort, with all longsuffering and teaching" (2 Tim. 4:2). This instruction is in keeping with the principle reflected in the book of Acts that the proclamation of God's Word is the heart of corporate worship. Yet in many churches, preaching is in decline. In this volume, fourteen experienced preachers reaffirm the centrality of preaching in the life of the church. Conrad Mbewe features as a contributor.

READING FOR PREACHING

The Preacher in Conversation with Storytellers, Biographers, Poets, and Journalists

Plantinga Jr., Cornelius

Plantinga, himself a master preacher, shows how a wide reading program can benefit preachers. First, good reading generates delight, and the preacher who enters the world of delight goes with God. Good reading can also help tune the preacher's ear for language, the preacher's primary tool. General reading can enlarge the preacher's sympathies for people and situations that she or he had previously known nothing about. And, above all, the preacher who reads widely has the chance to become wise.

SERMON LISTENING

A New Approach Based on Congregational Studies and Rhetoric

Šeba, Enoch

The purpose of preaching has always been to edify, encourage, and emphasize the positive effects of coming together as a people of God. Yet there remains an inconsistency between the intended goals of preaching and the subjective perception of the listeners. In this homiletical study, Dr. Enoch Šeba provides fresh insight into the "turn to the listener" model and offers a theologically sustainable warrant mandate for the transformation of the preaching practice through a stronger involvement of the congregation.

SPIRIT-EMPOWERED WITNESS

Gambo, David N.

The witness of Jesus Christ and his disciples was accompanied by mighty words and mighty works. Drawing on the Gospel of Luke and the Acts of the Apostles, Dr. Gambo demonstrates that this power came from the anointing of the Holy Spirit, without which neither Jesus nor his disciples would have been able to fulfil their ministry. Gambo utilizes an exegetical analysis to develop a theology of Spirit-empowered preaching – preaching characterized by Spirit-words and Spirit-works.

STYLE OR SUBSTANCE?

The Nature of True Christian Ministry

Taylor, William

In every age, Christians experience pressure to embrace contemporary culture. In Corinth, the church had been infiltrated by some who had grown weary of the message of the cross: whose boast was in outward appearance. In 2 Corinthians 2-7, Paul writes into this setting, urging the Corinthians then, and us today, to embrace the 'weak' ministry of Gospel proclamation, to partner with 'weak' Christians, and to boast in 'weak' ministers. It is in this weakness that God's power is exhibited.

SWEETER THAN HONEY

Preaching the Old Testament

Wright, Christopher J. H.

Many preachers ignore preaching from the Old Testament because they feel it is outdated and difficult to expound. Other preachers preach from the Old Testament frequently but fail to 'handle' it correctly, turning it into moralistic rules or symbolic lessons for our spiritual life. Wright proclaims preachers must not ignore the Old Testament. It is the Word of God! The Old Testament lays the foundation for our faith and it was the Bible Jesus read and used.

TEN INDICTMENTS AGAINST THE MODERN CHURCH*Washer, Paul*

The modern church is in need of revival. But as Washer contends, "We cannot simply do what is right in our own eyes and then expect the Spirit to come down and bless our labors." Truth be told, the devil has little need to oppose the church's prayer for revival unless God's people are seeking to live lives and order congregations according to God's Word. This book examines where churches have neglected biblical direction and need to prayerfully seek reformation.

Preaching God's Word in a Smartphone World

Tucker, John

We live in a rapidly changing world, a world that seems to be increasingly inhospitable toward preaching. In the face of digital technology, social media, cultural pluralism, and pastoral burnout, how can Christian preachers proclaim the gospel faithfully and effectively? This book brings together a selection of important voices from across North America, Asia, and the Pacific. It argues that Spirit-empowered preaching is characterized by five attributes: it opens the Scriptures, engages the culture, addresses the listener, dissects the preacher, and elevates the Saviour.

TIME AND THE END OF TIME

Discourses on Redeeming the Time and Considering Our Latter End

Fox, John

This book presents the never-dying soul with the weighty things one must deal with while standing on the coast of eternity: God, sin, heaven, hell, and, most of all, the personal work of Christ. Fox's piercing and searching exposition of two main texts, Ephesians 5:16 and Deuteronomy 32:29, engages readers with motivations, directions, and applications so they can both "redeem the time" and "consider their latter end."

INTO YOUR HAND

Confronting Good Friday

Brueggemann, Walter

This set of seven sermons follows the traditional church sequence of "The Seven Last Words of the Cross." These sermons take seriously the faith voiced by Jesus in his context of wretched abuse by the Romans. They attempt, moreover, to connect that reality of faith and abuse in our contemporary world of concentrated, ruthless power. These sermons on Good Friday replicate for us in our context what such an interface of faith and abuse must have been like.

FATHERING LEADERS, MOTIVATING MISSION

Restoring the Role of the Apostle in Today's Church

Devenish, David

Many pastors are lonely and their heart cry is for a fathering style of relationship, where they can be cared for pastorally, as well as mentored in the development of gifts and practical skills for their ministry. This groundbreaking book will help equip emerging apostles and encourage them to develop their gifting in planting churches, reaching previously un-reached people groups and transforming culture in cities and nations, whilst maintaining the biblical emphasis on family relationships, particularly the continuing need for fathers.

A World Tour of the Spread of Christianity

Stiller, Brian C.

Christianity started in Jerusalem. For many centuries it was concentrated in the West, in Europe and North America. But in the past century the church expanded rapidly across Africa, Latin America, and Asia. Thus Christianity's geographic center of density is now in the West African country of Mali – in Timbuktu. Brian Stiller identifies five key factors that have shaped the church. While in some areas Christianity is embattled and threatened, in many places it is flourishing as never before.

PASTORAL THEOLOGY - VOLUME 1

The Man of God: His Calling and Godly Life

Martin, Albert N.

From 1978 to 1998, Pastor A.N. Martin taught Pastoral Theology in the Trinity Ministerial Academy. Every Friday throughout the academic year, all the students would gather for two hours of teaching presented in a four-year cycle. Many expressed their desire to see these lectures printed. Within these lectures there are very few issues faced by the ordinary pastor that are not addressed in one way or another. It is the author's prayer that for any pastor, that whatever his pastoral concern may be, that there is something in these volumes that would be of help to him.

READ ME LIKE A BOOK

Using Hermeneutics as a Guide to Pastoral Counseling

Cusick, Jason

Many pastors feel overwhelmed and ill-equipped to deal with the counseling issues in their congregations. But pastors are actually better equipped for counseling than they realize. Hermeneutics, homiletics, pastoral care, and counseling all share a common foundation in the field of "interpretation."

RECOVERING FROM UN-NATURAL DISASTERS

A Guide for Pastors and Congregations after Violence and Trauma

Kraus, Laurie; Holyan, David; Wismer, Bruce

Unlike natural disasters, un-natural disasters such as gun violence, suicides, or sexual abuse deal with the concept of sin and require a different recovery strategy. In this book, readers will explore the four phases of human-caused disaster – Devastation and Heroism, Disillusionment, Reforming, and Wisdom – and receive suggestions to use with their faith community during the recovery process. Includes example worship resources, including prayers, music suggestions, and sermons that are appropriate to use during periods of trauma and recovery.

Spirituality and Ministry

Purves, Andrew

The meaning of compassion is more than just sympathy, empathy, pity, and concern. Compassion has a theological meaning. In this book, Andrew Purves sees compassion as the center of pastoral care, holding theology, spirituality, and ministry together. He examines how a renewed compassion gives ministry shape and content which “grows out of the life of God, and God's care for the world.”

Julius focuses on how these groups have been affected by Pakistan's blasphemy laws, their reactions to these laws, and why they respond differently. He provides a tool for Christians to understand what it means to be a minority in a hostile culture and presents a way forward for the Christian church.

Introduction by Mary McDermott Shideler

One of the first women to graduate from Oxford University, Dorothy Sayers pursued her goals whether or not what she wanted to do was ordinarily understood to be “feminine.” Sayers did not devote a great deal of time to talking or writing about feminism, but she did explicitly address the issue of women's role in society in the two classic essays collected here. Central to Sayers's reflections is the conviction that both men and women are first of all human beings and must be regarded as essentially much more alike than different. We are to be true not so much to our sex as to our humanity. The proper role of both men and women, in her view, is to find the work for which they are suited and to do it. Though written several decades ago, these essays still offer in Sayers's piquant style a sensible and conciliatory approach to ongoing gender issues.

NEWDEVELOPMENT AS PEACE

Adegbile, Wole

The colonial definition of development has not served Africa well. While Western assessments have generally revolved around a nation's GDP, infrastructure, and the like, African cultures, and the Yoruba people in particular, have traditionally measured development in relation to the amount of peace experienced in a society and the wellbeing of its people. In this study, Dr. Adegbile examines the political, theological, and cultural contexts of contemporary development activity in Africa, including the impact of modernization theory on African nation-states.

A DIFFERENT WAY OF BEING

Towards a Reformed Theology of Ethnopolitical Cohesion for the Kenyan Context

Tarus, David Kirwa

David Tarus humbly yet boldly challenges Kenyans to pursue national unity and peace by interrogating their allegiances to their ethnic communities and political parties. Carefully arguing why it is only a Christian identity, commitment to humanity as bearing the divine image, and the triune God himself, that can heal the divisions in this land. Ethnopolitical conflict is not confined to one nation, and this study will bear much fruit in other contexts where people yearn for social cohesion.

FAITH AND BAYAN

Evangelical Christian Engagement in the Philippine Context

Bautista, Lorenzo; Peñamora, Aldrin M.

When tyrants come to power and Christians remain silent, the church betrays its prophetic role in the public sphere. In this collection of essays, Filipino evangelical theologians challenge the church's complacency in the face of oppressive regimes. This is an excellent resource for students and leaders seeking an Asian evangelical perspective on Christian political engagement. It not only offers intellectual insight on the topic, but empowers its readers to fulfill a prophetic calling – to uphold democracy, peace, and human dignity.

FORGIVENESS AND POLITICS

A Critical Appraisal

Kevichusa, Kethoser Aniu

Forgiveness and politics are often assumed to be unrelated and un-relatable. This study not only argues that forgiveness and politics can be related, but also that they are intrinsically related. It also critiques standard approaches and proposals for relating forgiveness and politics while offering an alternative proposal for the relationship between forgiveness and politics. In making the case, the study revisits not only the biblical foundations of forgiveness, but also the concepts and practices of politics, justice, and reconciliation.

Stories of Hope and Courage

Strom, Kay Marshall; Rickett, Michele

Think of the little girls you know: your daughter, a niece, a friend's child. And then think about this: little girls are tossed away every day. All over the world, women and girls face starvation, displacement, illiteracy, sexual exploitation and abuse. Statistics show that the world's most oppressed are overwhelmingly female. Strom and Rickett took a trip across continents to partner with ministries working to help females and interviewed girls in some of the most difficult places in the world.

LOGIC

The Right Use of Reason after Truth

Watts, Isaac

As a child of Puritan parents, it is not surprising that Isaac Watts was greatly concerned about people's ability to think clearly. Whether a man was studying for the ministry or any other of the sciences, the ability to reason rightly was of utmost importance. Watts's work on logic and reason became a standard textbook for nearly 200 years, being used in such schools as Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard, and Yale.

The Mission of Church and Politics

Reimer, Johannes

Evangelical politicians are not exempt from scandals of corruption and complaints of ineffectiveness. Are Christians unable to do better politics than others? Are they less prepared? Is the whole political involvement of Christians under question? Reimer explores the answers to these questions by articulating a theology of the church's political mission. The church is not a political party, but as God's ecclesia, it has a prophetic voice and is called out of the world to take responsibility for the world.

Interpretation In Science And Theology

Duce, Philip

The relationship of science and theology is most usually discussed in terms of their subject matter - as in the 'Genesis-creation-evolution' controversies. Philip Duce instead focuses upon the strategies they employ in interpretation. Exploring the methodological and philosophical description used in science and theology yields fresh insights and far-reaching implications for both enterprises. He concludes that science and theology are organically related, and, indeed, belong within the same epistemological framework

A Biblical Approach for Restoring Relationships in the Church

Magda, Ksenija

When it comes to women, the church has chosen often to live according to the structures of sin and death, offering them not the good news of Christ, but the curse of Genesis, as their inheritance. Ksenija Magda traces the impact of the curse and the temptation to choose the world and its power over the servant-hearted humility of Christ. The question of how we view, treat, oppress or empower women is not peripheral to the gospel but foundational.

DEVELOPMENT OF CHINESE CHURCH LEADERS

A Study of Relational Leadership in Contemporary Chinese Churches

Lui, Otto

Confucianism and its influence on culture in East Asia has profoundly impacted Chinese churches and the development of their leaders. This work seeks to build an indigenous approach to developing church leaders by understanding the theoretical, and the situational foundations, of relational leadership from both cultural and biblical perspectives. The research is further enriched through case studies and interviews observing the practices of leadership in contemporary Chinese churches.

GOING PUBLIC

Why Baptism Is Required for Church Membership

Jamieson, R.

To answer the question of whether baptism is required for church membership, Going Public seeks to rebuild ecclesiological foundations, digging deep into the Bible's teaching on baptism, the Lord's Supper, and church membership. Bobby Jamieson describes how baptism and the Lord's Supper transform a scattered group of Christians into a gathered local church. It traces the trajectory of a church's birth, how gospel people form a gospel polity.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF CHRISTIAN WORSHIP

White, James F.

Most histories of Christian worship are written as if nothing significant in liturgical history ever happened in North America, as if cultural diversities were insignificant in the development of worship, and as if most of what mattered were words the priest or minister addressed to God. This book is a revisionist work, attempting to give new direction to liturgical history by treating the experience of worship of the people in the pews as the primary liturgical document.

DOES GOD CARE HOW WE WORSHIP?

Duncan, J. Ligon

Worship consciously regulated by God's Word is a distinct characteristic of the Reformed church. Yet today many churches do not understand that both the Old and New Testaments have much to say about appropriate worship before God. Ligon Duncan lays the foundations of the regulative principle in worship, providing full biblical support as well as historical context. He also answers objections: Is this "right worship" essentially European? Is it flexible to different churches and contexts? Is it really still applicable today?

WHEN GOD DRAWS NEAR

Exploring Worship from Seven Summits

Engle, Paul E.

Mountains occupy a significant place in Scripture, often functioning as "thin places" of transcendence where God makes himself known to people who respond with worship. The overarching metaphor of God's presence can be traced through biblical history as we stop at seven mountains to provide an overview of the spiritual realities present in corporate worship. Paul Engle invites you to explore the biblical views and stories, in chronological order, from Sinai, Zion, Carmel, Gerizim, Hermon, Olives and the heavenly Zion.

Rethinking the Theology of Baptism

Witherington III, Ben

Baptism has been a contested practice from the very beginning of the church. In this volume, Ben Witherington rethinks the theology of baptism and does so in constant conversation with the classic theological positions and central New Testament texts. By placing baptism in the context of the covenant, Witherington shows how advocates of both believer's baptism and infant baptism have added some water to both their theology and practice of baptism.

BELIEVING IN THE FUTURE

Toward a Missiology of Western Culture

Bosch, David J.

"We have truly entered into an epoch fundamentally at variance with anything we have experience to date...there can be no doubt that the new situation is confronting the Christian church with unprecedented challenges." So begins this provocative little book. Following an analysis of the postmodern world, the legacy of the Enlightenment, and Christian faith in a postmodern age, Professor Bosch sketches the contours of a missiology of Western culture. The latter includes considerations of mission as social ethics, mission and the Third World, and God-talk in an age of reason.

CHRISTIAN MISSION IN THE MODERN WORLD

Stott, John R. W.

; Wright, Christopher J. H.

Jesus sends us into the world just as God the Father sent him – and yet Christians continue to disagree on what this involves. Some believe that the focus of Christian mission is evangelizing and 'saving souls'. Others emphasize global justice issues or relief and development work. Is either view correct on its own? Newly updated and expanded by Christopher Wright, Stott's book provides a biblically based approach to mission that addresses both spiritual and physical needs.

A COVENANTAL VISION FOR GLOBAL MISSION

Wells, Paul; Peter A., Lillback; Henk, Stoker

For centuries, those in the Reformed tradition have proclaimed the gospel to the world. Yet discussions concerning the mission of the church do not sufficiently engage with the great theological truths of the biblical covenants – creation, grace, redemption. Bringing together contributors from Africa, Asia, Europe, North and South America, this work shows that the growing interest in the missional character of Christian outreach is grounded in the classic biblical and historic Reformed theological understanding of God's covenantal relationship with mankind.

DANGEROUS PRAYER

Discovering a Missional Spirituality in the Lord's Prayer

Cronshaw, Darren

The Lord's Prayer moves Christians, beyond praying for themselves, to have their imaginations captured by the mission of God and concern for global needs. Jesus' words guide us to pray for God's Kingdom on earth, for restoration, for food for the hungry, for people to experience forgiveness and all that really is good news about Jesus. It is a dangerous prayer because of its counter-cultural, radical stance, and because we can be, in part, the answer to our prayers.

DIALOGUE OF LIFE

Social Engagement as the Preferred Means to Incarnational Mission in the Context of Malay Hegemony

Lin, Khee Vun

The status of the global church is often that of a sociopolitical minority, at odds politically, religiously, and socially with the nations that encompass it. In such contexts, how is the church to faithfully uphold its missional calling? In this in-depth study of Chinese Christians living in Sabah, Malaysia, Dr. Khee-Vun Lin engages missiology and political theology to address the practical implications of incarnational mission in contexts where national identity exclude Christians from the public discourse.

DISABILITY IN MISSION

The Church's Hidden Treasure

John, Nathan G.

This book outlines a radical change in approaches to missiology, missions, and praxis for the twenty-first-century global cultural context. God works powerfully in missions through disability, not despite it. If the Church is supportive, people with disability can be effective agents of transformation in the mission field. Via case studies of people with disabilities who are involved in missions, and with robust biblical and missiological justification, this book examines the role of those with disability in missions.

GOD'S IMAGE AND GLOBAL CULTURES

Integrating Faith and Culture in the Twenty-First Century

Nehrbass, Kenneth

The central question of this book is, how does bearing God's image relate to cultural activity? Nehrbass explains that spheres of culture, such as political, technological, and social structures, are systems that God has instilled in humans as his image bearers, so that they can glorify and enjoy him forever. Therefore, a theology of culture involves recognizing that the kingdom of God encompasses heaven and Earth, rather than pitting heaven against Earth.

A Welcome to the Church

Davis, Dale Ralph

People are often curious and occasionally apprehensive about what the church is like. Not many people come sliding out of a reformed pipeline and straight into a pew - they come from all over the religious and non-religious spectrum. We don't want people to be surprised in a bad way about what they will encounter.

Cultivating a Missional Spirituality

Ringma, Charles

How are we to sustain activism and compassion amidst the never-ending crises of the twenty-first century? To effectively serve as the hands and feet of Jesus, the church must attend to the revitalization of its inner life through the spiritual practices which feed, support, and sustain the work of the kingdom. This book inspires us to integrate spiritual renewal and prophetic witness for the glory of God and the good of his creation.

A Reading of David Bosch through the Lens of Mission History and Contemporary Challenges In Ethiopia

Bekele, Girma

David Bosch challenged the church to be the Alternative Community called to live in the in-between of various opposing socio-political, economic, and ecclesiastical polarities. Bekele explores and renews that call in the context of Ethiopia. Acute poverty and the lingering question of the balance between ethnic distinctiveness and national unity, together constitute a two-edged challenge to Christian identity. Taking Ethiopia as the immediate context, Dr. Bekele offers important insight to the church in the majority world and beyond.

Theological Reflections on New Christian Movements

Dyrness, William A.

Missiologists today are considering the significance of insider movements, followers of Jesus who are emerging from within Islamic, Hindu, Buddhist, and other cultural contexts. Are these authentic expressions of Christian faith? If so, how should we understand them? William Dyrness brings a rare blend of cultural and theological engagement to his reflections on this important phenomenon.

This publication addresses the most challenging phase in church-planting missions, the torch being passed from pioneering missionaries to indigenous leaders. Having observed a very different story in the relationship between Olive Doke and Paul Kasonga, Mbewe argues that the key is deep-rooted mutual respect and admiration. Following a biblical interpretation of missions and referencing extensive sources regarding these church-planters, the author identifies the key ingredients to successful handovers and consequently a model for successful church-planting missions.

MISSION PARTNERSHIP IN CREATIVE TENSION

An Analysis of Relationships within the Evangelical Missions Movement with Special Reference to Peru and Britain from 1987–2006

Cueva, Samuel

Cueva has refined his concept of 'partnership in mission' by advocating reciprocal contextual collaboration in this reflection on contemporary missiology. Referencing historical, theological and functional aspects of mission and analyzing its impact on the evangelical movement, he identifies that mission always develops with positive and negative tensions. Emphasizing an understanding of current missions including traditional, networking and emergent models, and how they can be combined, interconnected and interchanged, the author proposes a fresh model that ensures suitability for every context.

THE MISSIONARY—THEOLOGIAN

Sent into the World, Sanctified by the Word

Burns, E. D.

Gospel doctrine is the lifeblood of mission. Most missionaries in church history have, in preparation for the field, committed themselves to rigorous study and extraordinary theological training, but there has been a move away from that in recent times. E.D. Burns contends that this is dangerous, leaving those who need it most ill-equipped to deal with the difficulties mission life brings.

Contextual Communication of the Gospel in Burmese Buddhist Context

Thein Nyunt, Peter

For almost 200 years Protestant missionaries have endeavoured to communicate the gospel to Burmese Buddhists in Myanmar. However, Christianity among this people group is still regarded as a 'potted plant' with former Buddhists being separated from their community and culture. In this publication Peter Thein Nyunt, a former Buddhist monk, examines past and current approaches of the Protestant church among Burmese Buddhists. Based on his findings he develops a contextual missiological strategy, with a relevant christological message and ecclesiological structure.

THE RECOVERY OF MISSION

Beyond the Pluralist Paradigm
Ramachandra, Vinoth
 On the basis of biblical, patristic, and contemporary theological writings Ramachandra argues for the uniqueness and decisiveness of what God has done for us in Jesus Christ. Ramachandra seeks to show that many of the valid concerns of pluralist theologians can best be met by reappropriating the missionary thrust at the heart of the gospel. The book ends with suggestions, challenging to pluralists and conservatives alike, as to how the gospel needs to be communicated in a multi-faith world.

SPIRIT EMPOWERED MISSION

Aligning the Church's Mission with the Mission of Jesus
Azurdia, Arturo
 In an age which screams for tolerance, the Gospel is seen as intolerably rigid - Christ can be one way, but not the way. In an effort to be more 'culturally relevant', the church is in danger of compromising - substituting the Gospel for the more palatable, non-confrontational road of social reforms. Spirit Empowered Mission opens up Acts 1-2, homing in on the real mission and purpose Christ has given the church: reaching the lost.

STORYTELLING

Sharing The Gospel With Passion And Power

Goldsmith, Martin

Goldsmith discovered early in his career as a missionary that stories were the most effective way of sharing the gospel - especially in places where evangelism was illegal. Since then, he's discovered they are also the best way of sharing it with our neighbours in the West. If we want to win hearers for the gospel in today's world, it is vital to become compelling and persuasive tellers of the gospel story once again.

God, the Church, and the Nations

Ashford, Bruce

Theology disconnected from mission is not Christian theology at all. The pastors, professors, and missionaries writing Theology and Practice of Mission provide a clear biblical-theological framework for understanding the church's mission to the nations. Toward that goal, the book holds three major sections: God's mission, the church's mission, and the church's mission to the nations.

The Eclipse Of A Modern Tradition

Stroope, Michael W.

This landmark work of missiology, calls for serious thinking and re-engagement with the language, paradigm and practice of mission. As with every reigning paradigm, there comes a point when enough questions surface to prompt a close and critical look. Stroope investigates how the modern church has come to understand, speak of and engage in the global expansion of Christianity. There is surprise and hope in this tale - and perhaps the beginnings of a new conversation...

Standing for Orthodoxy in Nineteenth-Century America

Nance, Mantle

The Adorable Trinity investigates the little-known conflict between Trinitarianism and Unitarianism in the nineteenth century American South. It explores the lives, ministries, and theological contributions of three Southern Presbyterian pastor-scholars associated with Columbia Theological Seminary - James Henley Thornwell, Thomas Smyth, and Benjamin Morgan Palmer - and their stands for the Trinitarian faith in response to a burgeoning Southern Unitarian movement. This is intriguing history that illumines the mind and warm theology that moves the heart to adore and serve the Triune God of love.

Exploring Historical Continuities

Haykin, Michael A. G.; Stewart, Kenneth J.

David Bebbington's 1989 book, Evangelicalism in Modern Britain: A History from the 1730s to the 1980s, put forth the idea that evangelical religion is the result of transatlantic revival in the 1730s, and that it took a working together attitude toward the Enlightenment rather than a contradictory one. Today, Bebbington's thesis has gained international acceptance, and scholars from Europe and North America present a review of its primary arguments and conclusions here in The Advent of Evangelicalism.

It has been provocatively affirmed that the future of Christianity is African. The first aim of this book is, appropriately enough, to enable African readers better to understand the significance, for them, of the last half-millennium of global Church History. However, it is hoped that non-African readers will find, from this different perspective, new and creative understandings of the subject - a subject which is becoming increasingly pertinent in today's 'global village.'

Seeing God's Sovereignty in the African-American Christian Experience

Carter, Anthony J.

African Americans have a rich Christian heritage. Yet white Christians often expect their black brothers and sisters to embrace Eurocentric theology that marginalizes their own experiences and traditions. Carter draws black and Reformed theology together, showing how Reformed theology's biblical stance addresses African-American experiences like the horrors of the transatlantic slave trade and oppression by so-called Christians. Carter also explores how an explicitly black theology can enhance our understanding of God and his Word, no matter our ethnicity.

Early Christian Distinctiveness in the Roman World

Hurtado, Larry W.

The Roman world rendered harsh judgments upon early Christianity – including branding Christianity "new." Novelty was no Roman religious virtue. Nevertheless, Christianity thrived despite its new and distinctive features and opposition to them. Unlike nearly all other religious groups, Christianity utterly rejected the traditional gods of the Roman world. Christianity also offered a new and different kind of religious identity, one not based on ethnicity.

DISAPPEARING CHURCH

From Cultural Relevance to Gospel Resilience

Sayers, Mark

For the many Christians eager to prove we can be both holy and cool, cultural pressures are too much. We either compartmentalize our faith or drift from it altogether – into a world that's so alluring. Disappearing Church will guide you in a thoughtful, faithful, and hopeful response. Weaving together art, history, and theology, pastor and cultural observer Mark Sayers reminds us that real growth happens when the church embraces its countercultural witness, not when it blends in.

English Reception of Swiss Reformed Thought, 1520–1555

Wainwright, Robert J. D.

Robert Wainwright demonstrates the importance of covenant theology in the early years of the Reformation. Contrary to the usual focus on the origins of federal theology, his book suggests that medieval covenant theology was reformed by the Swiss theologians Huldrych Zwingli, Heinrich Bullinger, and John Calvin, using the new parameters of grace alone and Scripture alone. Their covenant ideas spread at a surprisingly early stage to England and had a significant influence on the emergence of English Reformed theology.

£18.90THE FUTURES OF EVANGELICALISM

Issues And Prospects

Bartholomew, Craig G.

Evangelicalism made great strides during the latter half of the twentieth century, to become, in the words of Alister McGrath, 'the largest and most actively committed form of Christianity in the West'. This growth, however, has brought problems, and there is a widespread feeling that Western evangelicalism is at a crossroads. This is undoubtedly a time for reflection - on the route evangelicals have traveled, on the gains made, and on the possible future prospects in key areas.

£8.40THE GENESIS OF DOCTRINEMcGrath, Alister E.*

Alister E. McGrath begins his book by critically engaging the views of George Lindbeck on doctrine before moving on to present a fresh understanding of the nature and function of Christian doctrine within the church. Particular attention is paid to the way in which doctrine acts as a demarcator between communities of faith, providing important insights into contemporary ecumenical debates.

£14.50GETTING THE REFORMATION WRONG

Correcting Some Misunderstandings

Payton Jr., James R.

Getting the Reformation wrong is a common problem. Most students of history know that Martin Luther nailed his ninety-five theses to the Wittenberg Church door and that John Calvin penned the Institutes of the Christian Religion. However, the Reformation did not unfold in the straightforward, monolithic fashion some may think. It was, in fact, quite a messy affair. Using the most current Reformation scholarship, James R. Payton exposes, challenges and corrects some common misrepresentations of the Reformation.

The Real Origins of Belief in Jesus' Divine Nature – A Response to Bart D. Ehrman

Bird, Michael F.; Evans, Craig A.; Gathercole, Simon J.; Hill, Charles E.

This book explores the claim that Jesus of Nazareth was, and is, God. According to Ehrman, though, this is not what the earliest disciples believed, nor what Jesus claimed about himself. How God Became Jesus features the work of five internationally recognized biblical scholars. They contend, the exalted place of Jesus in belief and worship is clearly evident in the earliest Christian sources, shortly following his death, and was not simply the invention of the church centuries later.

His Life and Thought

Beynon, Graham

Isaac Watts (1674-1748) is one of the best-known hymn-writers in history. He wrote over 700 hymns including the well-known "When I survey the Wondrous Cross", "O God, our help in ages past" and "Jesus shall reign where'er the sun" - hymns which are still sung to this day. Brought up in a non-conformist church and family, Isaac Watts knew what it was to be a pastor whilst also battling prolonged periods of illness. Leading a life, that like us all, was not without difficulty or controversy, he was able to write hymns of almost unparalleled depth and beauty, though they were often unappreciated by his own congregation. This fascinating study considers his life, writings and continuing influence on Christians today, in a way that will illuminate and inspire.

The Making of a Maverick Missionary

Fiedler, Klaus

Malawians know their national hero, John Chilembwe, protested in 1915 against colonialism with an armed uprising. To understand him, one must understand Joseph Booth, who baptized him and took him to America in 1897 to study for ministry. In America, Booth published 'Africa for the African' to the anger of the colonial administration. This book explores what made him different from other missionaries by tracing his life, arguing that his political involvement must be understood from his specific Baptist background.

READINGS IN THE HISTORY OF CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY, VOLUME 2, REVISED EDITION

From the Reformation to the Present

Placher, William C.; Nelson, Derek R.

The authors compile significant passages written by important Christian thinkers, from the Reformers through the major participants in the contemporary theological conversation. Illustrating the major theologians, controversies, and schools of thought, this is an essential companion to the study of church history and historical theology. This revised edition expands the work's scope, drawing throughout on more female voices and expanding to include the most important twenty-first-century theological contributions.

What You Need to Know and Why

Reeves, Michael; Stott, John R. W.

The Reformation changed everything - culture, commerce and learning. Here in these few pages we focus on its core, its defining of a new Protestant church. It sets forth biblical truth, and the part each of us must play in passing that truth on to the next generation. If the church is to be effective, we must believe and confess the gospel, obey it and adorn it, proclaim it and argue it, defend it, and be willing to suffer for it.

A Sociologist Reconsiders History

Stark, Rodney

The idea that Christianity started as a clandestine movement among the poor is widely accepted. Yet it is one of many myths that must be discarded if we are to understand how a tiny messianic movement on the edge of the Roman Empire became the dominant faith of Western civilization. In a fast-paced, highly readable book that addresses beliefs and historical facts, Rodney Stark brings a sociologist's perspective to bear on the puzzle behind the success of early Christianity.

STILL PROTESTING

Why the Reformation Matters

Hart, D. G.

In this book, D. G. Hart investigates what was at stake in the sixteenth century and why Protestantism still matters. Of note is the author's recognition that the Reformers addressed the most basic question that confronts all human beings: How can a sinner be right with and worship in good conscience a righteous God who demands sinless perfection? Protestants used to believe that this question, along with the kind of life that followed from answers to it, was at the heart of their disagreement with Rome.

THEOLOGICAL ROOTS OF PENTECOSTALISM

Roberts, W. Dayton

In this landmark study, Donald Dayton explains how Pentecostalism grew out of Methodism and the nineteenth-century holiness revivals. He finds evidence of Wesleyan teaching in the classic writings of many Pentecostal leaders. He shows how Pentecostalism is rooted in the Wesleyan theological tradition, rather than being a contrived system of modern revivalistic ideas. Marty, in his foreword, calls Theological Roots of Pentecostalism "a very important statement . . . one without which subsequent commentators on Pentecostalism are not likely to give intelligent accounts."

Uayan weaves the story of six churches in the Philippines into the local history of their individual settings. Uayan presents a rich and previously unacknowledged heritage and support from US mission organisations from 1898–1946. The seeds sown in Chinese communities across the Philippines resulted in indigenous churches that are bearing fruit in missionary activity in China. This is an important contribution towards a global church history.

American Blacks and the Making of Modern West Africa

Sanneh, Lamin

Lamin Sanneh's engrossing book narrates the story of freed slaves who led efforts to abolish the slave trade by attacking its base operation: the capture and sale of people by African chiefs. Tracking this potent African American anti-slavery and democratizing movement through the nineteenth century, Lamin Sanneh draws a clear picture of the religious grounding of its conflict with the traditional chieftain authorities. His study recounts a crucial development in the history of West Africa.

A Distinctive Contribution to Hermeneutics

Nel, Marius; Balia, Daryl M.

The face of African Christianity is becoming Pentecostal. African Pentecostalism is a diverse movement, but its collective interest in baptism in the Spirit and the result of Pentecost in daily living binds it together. This book sketches an African hermeneutic that provides guidance to a diverse movement with many faces, and serves as corrective for doctrine and practice in the face of some excesses and abuses (especially in some parts of the neo-Pentecostal movement).

PRESBYTOPIA

What it means to be Presbyterian

Golden, Ken

When people visit churches, they come with questions. What do you believe about the Bible? How are you different from the church down the street? Why should I become a member of a Presbyterian Church? These are important questions, and questions that sometimes presbyterians don't even know the answer to! Ken Golden considers the distinctives of being a presbyterian, the basis for making a profession of faith and the role of the church as a means of grace.

BAPTISTS AND THE CHRISTIAN TRADITION

Toward an Evangelical Baptist Catholicity

Emerson, Matthew Y.; Stamps, R. Lucas

In Baptists and the Christian Tradition, editors Matthew Emerson, Christopher Morgan and Lucas Stamps compile a series of essays advocating Baptist catholicity. This approach presupposes a critical, but charitable, engagement with the whole church, both past and present, along with the desire to move beyond the false polarities of an Enlightenment-based individualism on the one hand and a pastiche of postmodern relativism on the other.

THE BIBLE AND MISSIONS

Montgomery, Helen Barrett; Dowd, Sharyn

The Bible and Missions is Montgomery's second contribution to a series of instructional materials by women and for women. It presented her many years of thought on the significance of women and missions to Protestant culture. The useful new introduction locates Montgomery's thought in historical context and makes clear what a force she was in her time.

EVANGELIZING LEBANON

Baptists, Missions, and the Question of Cultures

Trexler, Melanie E.

Trexler explores the complex, reflexive relationship between Baptist missionaries from the States and Baptists in Lebanon. Trexler pays attention to the contexts surrounding the relationships, the consequences, and the theologies inherent to missionary praxis, profiling the perspectives of both the missionaries and the Lebanese Baptists. Trexler's study of Baptists in Lebanon serves as a warning for missional identity everywhere: missionary insistence on a narrow and politically useful definition of what it means to be Christian can both aid and undermine.

LIKE RIPPLES ON WATER

On Russian Baptist Preaching, Identity, and the Pulpit's Neglected Powers

Cheprasov, Timofey

Like Ripples on Water is, first of all, a book about Russian Baptists and their preaching. While this religious group has attracted significant amount of interest from the academic community, the majority of the existing research projects concentrate on the history of the movement, rather than its contemporary ecclesial realities.

RUSSIAN BAPTIST MISSION THEOLOGY IN HISTORICAL AND CONTEMPORARY PERSPECTIVE

Kravtsev, Andrey

Kravtsev suggests five themes for facilitating the transition of Russian Baptist mission theology from the late-Soviet model of eschatological escapism, to a holistic, missional evangelicalism. This book places evangelical mission in contemporary Russian socio-political and ideological contexts, providing an important contribution for leading churches to a renewed missionary encounter with culture.

Methodist & Related ChurchesDOCTRINAL STANDARDS IN THE WESLEYAN TRADITION

Oden, Thomas C.

Oden narrates the history of the formation of Wesleyan doctrines, describing how they were transplanted from the British Isles to North America and became constitutionally protected in Wesleyan-rooted churches. This revised edition provides precise and useful information on the doctrinal traditions of mainline Protestantism. Hence the arguments have been updated with more than 400 changes. Included are doctrinal statements for a number of denominations; as well as an outline syllabus of a Course on the Articles of Religion.

TO SPREAD THE POWER

Church Growth in the Wesleyan Spirit

Hunter, III, George G.

Provides six proven successful "mega-strategies" for bringing more people into the church. Explains why John Wesley's writings still hold valuable insights for church growth. "I was enthused, as you will be, to observe how McGavran and Wesley targeted 'responsive' people, how they both used indigenous music and language and culture, how they identified needs and met them, and how determined both were to have supportive fellowship groups, lest converts die 'aborning'" – Richard Wilke, from the foreword.

CHRIST-CENTERED

The Evangelical Nature of Pentecostal Theology

Menzies, Robert P.; Wood, George O.

Pentecostals are often portrayed as emotional people who are driven largely by experience. In Christ-Centered, Menzies argues that this caricature misses the fact that Pentecostals are fundamentally people of the book. Although Pentecostals encourage spiritual experience, they do so with a constant eye to Scripture. The Bible, and particularly the book of Acts, fosters and shapes pentecostal experience. Additionally, Pentecostals are defined by their emphasis on a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. At its heart, the pentecostal movement is not Spirit-centered, but rather Christ-centered.

PENTECOSTAL ORTHODOXY

Toward an Ecumenism of the Spirit

Alvarez, Emilio; Behr, John

Can anything orthodox come from Pentecostalism? This recasting of Nathaniel's familiar question from the Gospel is a fair summary of many modern Christians' assessment of the Pentecostal tradition. Yet in recent years, a growing number of Pentecostals have been turning afresh to the ancient, creedal Christian faith. This book is a manifesto of sorts, promising not only to open up the possibility of a genuinely orthodox Pentecostalism, but to reframe modern ecumenical dialogue as well.

TALKING DOCTRINE

Mormons and Evangelicals in Conversation

Mouw, Richard J.

Over the past two centuries relations between Mormons and evangelicals could at best be described as guarded and suspicious and at worst as antagonistic and hostile. A group of nine Mormon and ten evangelical scholars undertook a remarkable journey over a period of fifteen years to discuss differences and investigate possible common ground. The essays in this book reflect thoughtful, respectful and nuanced engagements on some of the most controversial topics that have inflamed passions in the past.

ARABS IN THE SHADOW OF ISRAEL

The Unfolding of God's Prophetic Plan for Ishmael's Line

Maalouf, Tony

A thoughtful and well-documented call to rethink the role of Arabs in the plan of God. Western Christianity's long-standing support of Israel has, perhaps unintentionally, nurtured a prejudice against Arab people – the descendants of Abraham's first son, Ishmael. Author Tony Maalouf contends that this bias differs dramatically from the biblical portrayal of Ishmael and the nations that have sprung from him.

THE OX-HERDER AND THE GOOD SHEPHERD

Finding Christ on the Buddha's Path

Harts, Addison Hodges

In the twelfth century, the Chinese Zen master Kakuan Shien produced the pictures, poems, and commentaries we know as the Ten Ox-Herding Pictures. They trace a universally recognizable path of contemplative spirituality, using the metaphor of a young ox-herder looking for his lost ox. According to Addison Hodges Hart, the Ten Ox-Herding Pictures and the teachings of Christ, the Good Shepherd who guides us to God, share a common vision. Both show us that authentic spiritual life must begin with an inner transformation of one's self, leading to an outward life that is natural and loving. In The Ox-Herder and the Good Shepherd Hart shares the story that these pictures tell, exploring how this ancient Buddhist parable can enrich and illumine the Christian way.

THE TRINITY IN ASIAN PERSPECTIVELee, Jung Young

Western Christians often despair of finding meaning in the paradoxical statement that God is both "One" and "Three". The problem, says Jung Young Lee, is with the Western conceptual tendency to view reality in exclusive, "either/or" terms. Drawing on East Asian religious traditions, Lee offers a creative reinterpretation of this central Christian doctrine. He shows how a global perspective can illuminate Western theological constructs as he establishes the necessity of a contextual approach to the doctrine of the Trinity.

A Christian Perspective on Traditional and Folk Religions

Burnett, David G.

During the last century the Christian faith has made massive inroads into areas dominated by traditional and folk religions. In many cases, however, varieties of syncretism have developed, both in the countries of origin and in the West. David Burnett's comprehensive study covers African, Indian, Polynesian, Australian, Asian and South American forms of traditional religion, together with Western expressions of these forms of faith. This is a standard text for all those studying or expecting to work in areas of traditional and folk religion.

Buddhist Enlightenment and Christian Salvation

Netland, Harold A.; Yandell, Keith

In recent years Buddhism has attracted a fast-growing following in North America and Europe. In part, this is because Buddhism seems to offer peace and inner tranquillity, a profound spirituality and insight into ultimate reality yet without the need for belief in a God. To many spiritual seekers in the post-Christian West this 'spirituality without God' has strong appeal. This book has the twofold aim of introducing the diverse Buddhist traditions to Western readers and of offering a Christian engagement with the central truth-claims of Buddhism.

Yam Yisrael Chai!

Morris, Paul

An examination of what the New Testament teaches about the Jewish people in the era of the New Covenant. The core of that teaching is an affirmation of God's continued faithfulness to them. In a day when opinions regarding the Jewish people are increasingly polarised as some stress their position centre-stage and others consign them to the dustbin of history, this book seeks to demonstrate from the New Testament that both extremes are wrong.

MUSLIM

What You Need to Know About the World's Fastest Growing Religion

Hanegraaff, Hank

For all the debate over Islam and its growing presence in the world, one thing is often overlooked: Islam is not a religion in the sanitized Western sense. It is an all-encompassing sociopolitical legal matrix that has bred a worldview antagonistic to anything but itself. While there are millions of peaceful and tolerant Muslims, many of them our neighbors, Islam itself is hardly peaceful and tolerant. Hanegraaff outlines the problems and gives potential solutions in the clash of civilizations.

C.S. LEWIS VS THE NEW ATHEISTS*Williams, Peter S.*

The book counters the 'new atheist' movement using the arguments of C.S. Lewis, appealing to readers interested in both loci and shows there is nothing especially 'new' about the new atheism. How might Lewis respond to the twenty-first century 'new atheism' of Dawkins, Hitchens and company? Might Lewis' own journey from atheism to Christian belief illuminate and undercut the objections of the new atheists? This book takes an intellectual journey through Lewis' conversion in conversation with today's anti-theists.

A Constructive Christian Theology for the Pluralistic World

Kärkkäinen's Constructive Christian Theology for the Pluralistic World is a five-volume project that aims to develop a new approach to and method of doing Christian theology in our pluralistic world at the beginning of the third millennium. Topics such as diversity, inclusivity, violence, power, cultural hybridity, and justice are part of the constructive theological discussion along with classical topics such as the messianic consciousness, incarnation, atonement, and the person of Christ.

Abingdon New Testament Commentary Series

The Abingdon New Testament Commentaries series provides compact, critical commentaries on the writings of the New Testament. These commentaries are written with special attention to the needs and interests of theological students, but they will also be useful for students in upper-level college or university settings, as well as for pastors and other religious leaders. In addition to providing basic information about the New Testament texts and insights into their meanings, these commentaries are intended to exemplify the tasks and procedures of careful, critical biblical exegesis.

Abingdon Old Testament Commentary Series

The Abingdon Old Testament Commentaries provide compact, critical commentaries on the books of the Old Testament for the use of theological students and pastors. The commentaries are also useful for upper-level college or university students and for those responsible for teaching in congregational settings. In addition to providing basic information and insights into the Old Testament writings, these commentaries exemplify the tasks and procedures of careful interpretation, all to assist students of the Old Testament in coming to an informed and critical engagement with the biblical texts themselves.

Africa Bible Commentary Series

The landmark Africa Bible Commentary compiled the scholarship of seventy African scholars in one volume. Now, the Africa Bible Commentary Series provides deeper insights into each biblical book, explaining the meaning of Scripture in smaller, separate volumes. The series emphasizes the relevance of biblical concepts for the life of the local church and the case studies and African illustrations accomplish this in ways that mere explanations cannot. In addition, each commentary is divided into sermon units for easy use in developing a preaching series on the biblical books and includes discussion questions to assist further study.

Baylor Handbook on the Hebrew Bible

Rather than devote space to the type of theological and exegetical comments found in most commentaries, this series instead focuses on the Hebrew text and its related issues, syntactic and otherwise. The volumes in the series serve as prequels to commentary proper, providing guides to understanding the linguistic characteristics of the texts from which the messages of the texts may then be derived.

Blackwell Bible Commentaries

The Blackwell Bible Commentaries offer a genuinely new approach in their emphasis on the way the Bible has been used and interpreted through the ages, from the church fathers through to current popular culture, and in spheres as diverse as art and politics, hymns and official church statements. These are the first commentaries to place an emphasis on the Bible in literature, music and art; the Bible in history and politics; and the Bible in theology and religion.

Boice Commentary Series

The Boice Commentary series combines careful scholarship and clear communication in a verse-by-verse and section by section reading of various biblical texts. Combining thoughtful interpretation with contemporary insight for daily living, the author explains the meaning of the text and relates the text's concerns to the church, Christianity, and the world in which we live. Whether used for devotions, preaching, or teaching, this series will appeal to a wide range of readers, from serious Bible students to interested laypersons.

Christ-Centered Exposition

Edited by David Platt, Daniel L. Akin, and Tony Merida, this new commentary series, projected to be 48 volumes, takes a Christ-centered approach to expositing each book of the Bible. Rather than a verse-by-verse approach, the authors have crafted chapters that explain and apply key passages in their assigned Bible books. Readers will learn to see Christ in all aspects of Scripture, and they will be encouraged by the devotional nature of each exposition. Projected contributors to the series include notable authors such as Russell D. Moore, Al Mohler, Matt Chandler, Francis Chan, Mark Dever, and others.

Christian Essentials

The Christian Essentials series passes down tradition that matters. The ancient church was founded on basic biblical teachings and practices like the Ten Commandments, baptism, the Apostles' Creed, the Lord's Supper, the Lord's Prayer, and corporate worship. These basics of the Christian life have sustained and nurtured every generation of the faithful—from the apostles to today. The books in the Christian Essentials series open up the meaning of the foundations of our faith.

Contrapuntal Readings of the Bible in World Christianity

This series values the twofold identity of biblical interpretations that seek to engage in contextual theology and, at the same time, become part of a global and “many-voiced” conversation for the sake of mutual understanding. By promoting contrapuntal readings that hold contextual and global biblical hermeneutics in tension, this series celebrates interpretations in three movements: (1) those based on the biblical text that honor multiple and interacting worldviews (reading the world biblically/theologically); (2) those that work at the translatability of the biblical text to uphold various dynamic vernaculars and faithful hermeneutics for the world (reading the Bible/theology contextually); and (3) those that respect the cross-cultural and shifting contexts in which faithful communities are embedded, and embody, real-life issues.

Crosscurrents in Majority World and Minority Theology

As Christianity continues to expand in the global South and East, demand has grown for thoughtful biblical and theological analysis that addresses the concerns of the Majority World as well as minority Christians in the colonial contexts. The "Crosscurrents in Majority World and Minority Theology" series attempts to harness this promising moment by addressing themes central to Majority World and minority biblical studies and theology that often find no place in North Atlantic discussions around traditional theological loci, such as land, migration, and identity. The series promotes engagement with the best resources from World Christianity, bringing the current and next generation of Majority World and minority scholars into dialog with each other.

Cultivating Biblical Godliness

As Christians, one of our greatest needs is for the Spirit of God to cultivate biblical godliness in us in order to put the beauty of Christ on display through us, all to the glory of the triune God. With this goal in mind, this series of booklets treats matters vital to Christian experience at a basic level. Each booklet addresses a specific question in order to inform the mind, warm the affections, and transform the whole person by the Spirit's grace, so that the church may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things.

Dave Andrews Legacy Series

A Collection of works by Dave Andrews: Dave Andrews is an Australian Christian anarchist author, speaker, social activist, and community worker who, along with his wife, Ange, and their family have lived and worked in intentional communities with marginalized groups of people in Australia, Afghanistan, Pakistan and India for over forty years. Along with friends, Dave and Ange started Aashiana, Sahara, and Sharan—three Christian community organizations working with slum dwellers, sex workers, and people with HIV/AIDS in India. He is also a part of Waiters Union, an inner-city Christian community network working with Indigenous Australians, refugees and people with disabilities in Australia. Dave is also an Elder for Servants to Asia's Urban Poor, an educator for TEAR Australia, a Christian international aid and development agency, and a lecturer at the University of Queensland and Christian Heritage College.

Essential Studies in Biblical Theology

Essential Studies in Biblical Theology (ESBT) explores the central or "essential" themes of the Bible's grand storyline. Whereas existing series on biblical theology are generally open-ended, the ESBT will be limited to ten or so volumes. By restricting the entire series, the scope of the project is established from the beginning.

Foundations in Asian Christian Thought

The Foundations in Asian Christian Thought series offers accessible and innovative introductions to key topics that are contextually engaged, theologically rich, and broadly evangelical. In each volume, seasoned and rising scholars from all over Asia with a shared commitment to genuinely contextual reflection and the primary authority of Scripture introduce readers to major issues in the field, identifying the key contributions of Asian Christians to the global theological conversation. In addition to introducing readers to the dynamic landscape of Asian Christian thought, each book also includes constructive proposals regarding how Christians can wisely advance the development of Asian biblical and theological reflection.

G. Campbell Morgan Reprint Series

A Collection of works by G. Campbell Morgan (1863-1945), a leading Bible expositor in England and the United States. Despite a lack of substantial formal training, Morgan was a prolific writer and teacher. Ordained into the Congregational ministry, he was the pastor of Westminster Chapel, London (1904-17 and 1933-45). Morgan also conducted two very successful teaching tours in the United States, including work with D.L. Moody's ministry.

Get Preaching Series

The Get Preaching series is for all preachers. These short books will help the novice preacher on a course of faithful preaching, the experienced preacher to hone their skills, and preaching groups sharpen each other. However you use this book we hope that it will achieve its twin aims. That you would get preaching (understanding the task at hand) and get preaching (doing more preaching).

Institute of Middle East Studies Series

The Institute of Middle East Studies Series provides academic theological books that are contextually appropriate to the MENA region and prophetically, sensitively and in a non-partisan manner inspire people and society. These resources represent the output of the Institute of Middle East Studies (IMES), founded by the Arab Baptist Theological Seminary, Beirut, Lebanon, which seeks to bring about positive transformation in thinking and practice between Christians and Muslims in the Middle East and beyond. The purpose of IMES is to increase general awareness about Middle East realities and to resource evangelicals to serve specific needs in the Arab World and among Arab communities.

Jewish and Christian Text

This series focuses on early Jewish and Christian texts and their formative contexts and includes sourcebooks that help clarify the ancient world. Five aspects distinguish this series: 1) The volumes reflect the need to situate, and to seek to understand, these ancient texts within their originating social and historical contexts. 2) The series assumes that it is now often difficult to distinguish between Jewish and Christian documents, since all early "Christians" were Jews. Jesus and his earliest followers were devout Jews who shared many ideas with the well-known Jewish groups, especially the Pharisees, the Essenes, and the various apocalyptic groups. 3) Recognition that there were (and still are) many ways of understanding authoritative literature or scripture. Therefore, we must not impose a static notion of "canon" on the early period of our culture and in turn denigrate some texts with labels such as "non-canonical" since such terms are anachronistic designations that were only later imposed on the early documents. 4) Emphasis on the need to include all relevant sources and documents, including non-literary data, and that all important methodologies, from archaeology and sociology to rhetoric and theology, should be employed to clarify the origin and meaning of the documents. 5) Scientific research is at the foundation of these publications which are directed to scholars and those interested in Jewish and Christian origins.

Kidner Classic Commentaries

The Old Testament commentaries of Derek Kidner (1913–2008) have been a standard for a generation, modeling conciseness, clarity and insight. Kidner's works are full of the marks of both professor and pastor with his evenhanded scholarship as well as his devotional insight. These qualities have made his commentaries in the Tyndale Old Testament Commentary series and The Bible Speaks Today series some of the most beloved and popular of recent decades. As these two classic series age, Kidner's titles are now proudly offered as part of the Kidner Classic Commentaries, for future generations to read, absorb and appreciate. Kidner had a long career in both the church and the academy in England. He studied at Cambridge University and then served in the ministry for several years before becoming a senior tutor at Oak Hill Theological College. Kidner began his writing career while serving as warden of Tyndale House in Cambridge from 1964 to 1978, publishing his ninth and final book, The Message of Jeremiah, in 1987.

Knowing The Bible

This Bible study series is designed to help readers better understand and apply God's Word. Each study covers a book or books of the Bible over 12 weeks, making practical applications and connections between the passage and the rest of Scripture. The series is edited by theologian J. I. Packer and includes contributions from an array of influential pastors and church leaders. Perfect for both small groups and individuals, these gospel-centered studies will help readers see and cherish the message of God's grace found on each and every page of the Bible.

Library of Religious Biography

The Library of Religious Biography is a series of original biographies on important religious figures throughout American and British history. The authors are well-known historians, each a recognized authority in the period of religious history in which his or her subject lived and worked. Grounded in solid research of both published and archival sources, these volumes link the lives of their subjects – not always thought of as “religious” persons – to the broader cultural contexts and religious issues that surrounded them. Each volume includes a bibliographical essay and an index to serve the needs of students, teachers, and researchers. Marked by careful scholarship yet free of footnotes and academic jargon, the books in this series are well-written narratives meant to be read and enjoyed as well as studied.

The Majority World Theology series exists because of the seismic shifts in the makeup of world Christianity. The Majority World authors in this series seek to produce, collaboratively, biblical and theological textbooks that are about, from, and to the Majority World. By assembling scholars from around the globe who share a concern to do theology in light of Christian Scripture and in dialogue with Christian tradition coming from the Western church, this series offers readers the chance to listen in on insightful, productive, and unprecedented in-person conversations.

New Covenant Commentary Series

The New Covenant Commentary Series (NCCS) is designed for ministers and students who require a commentary that interacts with the text and context of each New Testament book and pays specific attention to the impact of the text upon the faith and praxis of contemporary faith communities. The NCCS has a number of distinguishing features. First, the contributors come from a diverse array of backgrounds in regards to their Christian denominations and countries of origin. Unlike many commentary series that tout themselves as international, the NCCS can truly boast of a genuinely international cast of contributors with authors drawn from every continent of the world (except Antarctica) including countries such as the United States, Puerto Rico, Australia, the United Kingdom, Kenya, India, Singapore, and Korea. We intend the NCCS to engage in the task of biblical interpretation and theological reflection from the perspective of the global church. Second, the volumes in this series are not verse-by-verse commentaries. As opposed to some often atomistic approaches, these commentaries focus instead on larger units of text in order to explicate and interpret the text's story. Third, a further aim of these volumes is to provide an occasion for authors to reflect on how the New Testament impacts the life, faith, ministry, and witness of the New Covenant Community today. This occurs periodically under the heading of "Fusing the Horizons and Forming the Community." Here authors provide windows into community formation (how the text shapes the mission and character of the believing community) and ministerial formation (how the text shapes the ministry of Christian leaders).

New International Commentary on the Old Testament Series

(NICOT) Provides solid textual expositions for pastors, students and scholars. Each volume includes an introduction discussing various facts of the biblical book, including the authorship, date, historical setting, original text, structure, theology, etc., and a select bibliography. The commentary proper, based on the author's own English translation of the Hebrew text, expounds the book section by section. R.K. Harrison, general editor.

Commentary Series

Based on the 1973 UBS Greek New Testament, this series provides thorough exegesis of the text that is sensitive to theological themes as well as details of the historical, linguistic, and textual contexts. While dealing with significant modern New Testament research, the NIGTC authors also keep in mind the needs of beginner Greek students and pastors or laypersons not well versed in Greek. Editors: D. Hagner and I. Howard Marshall.

New Testament For Everyone

A major new series of guides to the books of the New Testament. Tom Wright has undertaken a tremendous task: to provide guides to all the books of the New Testament, and to furnish them with his own fresh translation of the entire text. Each short passage is followed by a highly readable discussion, with background information, useful interpretation and explanation, and thoughts as to how it can be relevant to our lives today. No knowledge of technical jargon is required. The series is suitable for personal or group use. The format makes it appropriate also for daily study.

NIV Application Commentary Series

These commentaries explain not only what the Bible meant but how it can speak powerfully today. Three sections on each Bible passage illuminate its original meaning, its timeless truths, and its contemporary application to issues today. The NIV translation forms the basis for the series, but not as a text that is above criticism.

Opening Up The Bible

This series offers accessible and easy-to-read introductions to the books of the Bible. The commentaries tackle the key issues in each book by introducing the history and context and by giving an overview of important themes and events. The authors wrestle with the hard questions and navigate through the difficult issues, with a keen eye toward application and relevance for today.

Paideia Commentaries on the New Testament

Paideia commentaries explore how New Testament texts form Christian readers by attending to the ancient narrative and rhetorical strategies the text employs, showing how the text shapes theological convictions and moral habits, commenting on the final, canonical form of each New Testament book, focusing on the cultural, literary, and theological settings of the text, making judicious use of maps, photos, and sidebars in a reader-friendly format.

Prophetic Christianity Series

The Prophetic Christianity series explores the complex relationship between Christian doctrine and contemporary life. Deeply rooted in the Christian tradition, series contributors are scholars who believe that the concept of "difference" calls us to constructive dialogue between their context and contemporary methodologies like postmodernism and postcolonialism. In our conversations with prospective series contributors, we are developing projects that are

- Sensitive to historical context
- Marked by philosophical precision
- Relevant to contemporary problems
- Committed to the interdisciplinary nature of Christian theology
- Ecumenical in spirit

Additionally, this series will offer new avenues for constructive dialogue about biblical hermeneutics, theological method, and ecclesial commitment. Our goal is to foster transformation and the integration of faith, action, and discipleship within learning communities - including classrooms and small groups in academic and faith communities - as they seek a just and peaceable global future. Series Editors: Bruce Ellis Benson, Malinda Elizabeth Berry, Peter Goodwin Heltzel.

Reformation Commentary on Scripture

Projected to be a twenty-eight-volume biblical commentary, the Reformation Commentary on Scripture series puts the words of the Reformers directly into the hands of the contemporary church. The project brings together a team of world-class Reformation scholars under the leadership of general editor Timothy F. George and associate general editor Scott M. Manetsch. Each volume will feature a mix of major and minor voices from the era, with many texts appearing for the first time in English.

Reformed Academic Dissertations

P&R's Reformed Academic Dissertation (RAD) series consists of top-tier dissertations (Ph.D., Th.D., D.Min., and Th.M.) that advance biblical and theological scholarship by making distinctive contributions in the areas of theology, ethics, biblical studies, apologetics, and counseling. Dissertations in the RAD series are carefully selected, on the basis of strong recommendations by the authors' supervisors and examiners and by our internal readers, to be part of our collection. Each selected dissertation provides clear, fresh, and engaging insights about significant theological issues.

Reformed Expository Commentary

A book as important as the Bible, which has sold more copies than any other title needs to be understood well. This series seeks to accomplish that objective across 51 volumes by explaining every book of the Bible in four ways: expositionally (what does it mean?), doctrinally (how does it define ideas?), redemptively (how does it relate to Jesus and the Gospel?), and practically (how does it apply to life?). Contributors to the series include Bryan Chapell, Daniel Doriani, Ligon Duncan, Richard Phillips and Philip G. Ryken.

Regnum Edinburgh Centenary Series

These publications reflect the ethos of Edinburgh 2010 and will make a significant contribution to its study process. It should be clear that material published in this series will inevitably reflect a diverse range of views and positions. These will not necessarily represent those of the series' editors or of the Edinburgh 2010 General Council, but in publishing them the leadership of Edinburgh 2010 hope to encourage conversation between Christians and collaboration in mission. All the series volumes are commended for study and reflection in both churches and academies. Also available as free pdf downloads at www.ocms.ac.uk/regnum

Regnum Practitioner Series

While we delight to serve the academic community, our mission is to enable the global church to better engage in God's mission in its very diverse contexts. To do this we seek to bring practitioners and academics together. Our desire is that this series will bridge the gap that sometimes exists between, on the one hand, Christian leaders and mission practitioners and, on the other, Christian researchers.

The Regnum Studies in Mission series is born out of the lived experience of Christians and Christian communities-in-mission, especially in the fast growing churches among the poor of the world. These churches have more to tell than just stories of growth. Their work is making a significant impact, step by step shaping their cultures in the power and image of Christ. Through this series, these practitioners are expressing the reality of the Christian faith as it is manifested in their societies and making the work of God known, globally.

Studies in Christian Doctrine and Scripture

Studies in Christian Doctrine and Scripture, edited by Daniel J. Treier and Kevin J. Vanhoozer, promotes evangelical contributions to systematic theology, seeking fresh understanding of Christian doctrine through creatively faithful engagement with Scripture in dialogue with catholic tradition(s). Volumes in SCDS explore the synergy between Scripture and contemporary issues, rooted in the classic evangelical commitment to Scripture as well as the perpetual need to contextualize with creative fidelity. Likewise, these volumes promote historically informed engagements with the crucial themes of classic dogmatics and contemporary systematic theology in order to promote scholarship that is theologically competent and biblically literate. This series promotes evangelical contributions to Christian doctrine by reflecting different approaches, appealing to biblical theology, history of interpretation, theological interpretation of Scripture and more. Some volumes engage in detailed exegesis while others appropriate broader biblical themes and patterns with the ultimate goal of promoting the constructive engagement between Scripture and Christian theology.

Studies in Theological Interpretation

The Studies in Theological Interpretation series is dedicated to the pursuit of constructive theological interpretation of the church's inheritance of prophets and apostles in a manner that is open to reconnection with the long history of theological reading in the church. These brief, focused, and closely argued studies evaluate the hermeneutical, historical, and theological dimensions of scriptural reading and interpretation for our times. Editorial Advisory Board: Gary Anderson (University of Notre Dame), Markus Bockmuehl (University of Oxford), Richard Hays (Duke University Divinity School), Christine Pohl (Asbury Theological Seminary), Eleonore Stump (Saint Louis University), Anthony Thiselton (University of Nottingham, University of Chester), Marianne Meye Thompson (Fuller Theological Seminary), Kevin Vanhoozer (Wheaton College and Graduate School), John Webster (University of Aberdeen)

Studies in Theology and the Arts

IVP Academic's Studies in Theology and the Arts (STA) series seeks to enable Christians to reflect more deeply upon the relationship between their faith and humanity's artistic and cultural expressions. By drawing on the insights of both academic theologians and artistic practitioners, this series encourages thoughtful engagement with and critical discernment of the full variety of artistic media—including visual art, music, literature, film, theater, and more—which both embody and inform Christian thinking.

The Essentials Set

Thriving small groups, authentic leaders, compassionate disciples, motivated witnesses – does your church have the essentials? The Essentials Set is a series of in-depth workbooks that brings the essentials of Christian ministry into contact with the real life of your congregation. With books on discipleship, evangelism, leadership and the Great Commandment, there is something for everyone at your church – from veteran ministry leaders to regular attenders. Unique among Bible study materials, the Essentials model seizes the great potential of small groups by calling individuals into intimate, accountable relationships centered on the essentials of God's Word. Every Essentials experience is built on three conditions for transformation: 1) The unchanging truth of God's Word, 2) transparent relationships and 3) mutual accountability. As each Essentials group matures in these areas, members are encouraged to start again with new groups – creating an ever-expanding, multigenerational discipling network within your community. If you want to see unprecedented growth in every facet of your ministry, there's no better place to begin than the Essentials Set.

The Five Solas Series

Historians and theologians have long recognized that at the heart of the sixteenth-century Protestant Reformation were five declarations, often referred to as the "solas": sola scriptura, solus Christus, sola gratia, sola fide, and soli Deo Gloria. These five statements summarize much of what the Reformation was about and they distinguish Protestantism from other expressions of the Christian faith. The Five Solas series will help you understand the historical and biblical context of the five solas and how to live out the relevance of Reformation theology today.

The Lightfoot Legacy Set

InterVarsity Press is proud to present The Lightfoot Legacy, a three-volume set of previously unpublished material from J. B. Lightfoot, one of the great biblical scholars of the modern era. In the spring of 2013, Ben Witherington III discovered hundreds of pages of biblical commentary by Lightfoot in the Durham Cathedral Library. While incomplete, these commentaries represent a goldmine for historians and biblical scholars, as well as for the many people who have found Lightfoot's work both informative and edifying, deeply learned and pastorally sensitive. Now on display for all to see, these commentary notes reveal a scholar well ahead of his time, one of the great minds of his or any generation. Well over a century later, Lightfoot's writings remain a relevant and significant resource for the church today. Volume 1 covers the book of Acts, Volume 2 explores the Gospel of John, and Volume 3 covers 2 Corinthians and 1 Peter.

The Missiology of Alan R. Trippet Series

Alan Trippet's publications played a significant role in the development of missiology. The volumes in this series augment his distinguished reputation by bringing to light his many unpublished materials and hard-to-locate printed articles. These books—encompassing theology, anthropology, history, area studies, religion, and ethnohistory—broaden the contours of the discipline. Twenty years as a missionary in Fiji, following pastoral ministry in Australia and graduate degrees in history and anthropology, provide the rich data base that made Alan R. Trippet a leading missiologist of the twentieth century. Trippet served as Professor of Anthropology and Oceanic Studies at Fuller Theological Seminary.

The Quest for Reality and Significance

In this series of books, David Gooding and John Lennox offer a fair analysis of religious and philosophical attempts to find the truth about the world and our place in it. By listening to the Bible alongside other leading voices, they show that it is not only answering life's biggest questions—it is asking better questions than we ever thought to ask.

Two Horizons New Testament Commentary Series

Seeking to bridge the existing gap between biblical studies and systematic theology, this distinctive series offers section-by-section exegesis of the New Testament texts in close conversation with theological concerns. Written by respected scholars, the THNTC volumes aim to help pastors, teachers, and students engage in deliberately theological interpretation of Scripture.

1 AND 2 TIMOTHY AND TITUS

Wall, Robert W.; Steele, Richard B.

2012, Eerdmans, 9780802825629, Paperback, 432 pages £15.00

Two Horizons Old Testament Commentary Series

Two features distinguish The Two Horizons Old Testament Commentary series: theological exegesis and theological reflection. Exegesis since the Reformation era and especially in the past two hundred years emphasized careful attention to philology, grammar, syntax, and concerns of a historical nature. More recently, commentary has expanded to include social-scientific, political, or canonical questions and more. Without slighting the significance of those sorts of questions, scholars in The Two Horizons Old Testament Commentary locate their primary interests on theological readings of texts, past and present. The result is a paragraph-by-paragraph engagement with the text that is deliberately theological in focus. Theological reflection in The Two Horizons Old Testament Commentary takes many forms, including locating each Old Testament book in relation to the whole of Scripture – asking what the biblical book contributes to biblical theology – and in conversation with constructive theology of today. How commentators engage in the work of theological reflection will differ from book to book, depending on their particular theological tradition and how they perceive the work of biblical theology and the theological hermeneutics. This heterogeneity derives as well from the relative infancy of the project of theological interpretation of Scripture in modern times and from the challenge of grappling with a book's message in its ancient context, in the canon of Scripture and history of interpretation, and for life in the admittedly diverse Western world at the beginning of the twenty-first century. The Two Horizons Old Testament Commentary is written primarily for students, pastors, and other Christian leaders seeking to engage in theological interpretation of Scripture. Series Editors: J. Gordon McConville, Craig Bartholomew

Wesleyan Doctrine Series

The Wesleyan Doctrine Series seeks to reintroduce Christians in the Wesleyan tradition to the beauty of doctrine. The volumes in the series draw on the key sources for Wesleyan teaching: Scripture, Liturgy, Hymnody, the General Rules, the Articles of Religion, and various Confessions. In this sense, it seeks to be distinctively Wesleyan. But it does this with a profound interest and respect for the unity and catholicity of Christ's body, the church, which is also distinctly Wesleyan. For this reason, the series supplements the Wesleyan tradition with the gifts of the church catholic, ancient, and contemporary. The Wesleyan tradition cannot survive without a genuine Catholic Spirit. These volumes are intended for laity who have a holy desire to understand the faith they received at their baptism. Editors: Randy Cooper Andrew Kinsey D. Brent Laytham D. Stephen Long.

Zondervan Exegetical Commentary on the New Testament Series

Written by notable evangelical scholars, each volume in the Zondervan Exegetical Commentary on the New Testament series treats the literary context and structure of the passage in the original Greek. The series consistently provides the main point, an exegetical outline, verse-by-verse commentary, and theology in application in each section of every commentary.

TRANSFORMING THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION 2ND EDITION

A Practical Handbook for Integrated Learning

Perry Shaw

January 2022 | 9781839730856 | 382 pages | £12.50

Providing theoretical foundations and practical principles for purposeful curriculum design, as well as tools for facilitating integrated and contextually significant learning in the classroom. This updated second edition has been reorganized for thematic clarity and expanded to provide a stronger foundation for thinking theologically – rather than just educationally – about theological education.

This handbook continues to be a one-of-a-kind resource for theological educators and all those involved in Christian leadership training.

The Central and Eastern European Bible Commentary is a groundbreaking, multi-year work and the first full-Bible commentary to come out of Central and Eastern Europe. The aim of this resource is to provide a contemporary, contextually relevant, church-based commentary written exclusively by biblical scholars from the region. Rooted in scholarship, while also written in clear and accessible language, this commentary will appeal to Christians everywhere.

This resource will help pastors, preachers, teachers and lay leaders to interpret and apply biblical truths in the rapidly changing contexts of their lives and faith communities.

Better than One

A Biblical View of Loneliness

Valeriia Chornobai and Viktoriia Hrytsenko

October 2023 | 9781839735363

200 pages | £7.50

This beautifully thoughtful book brings together the whole range of philosophical and theological thinking on the concept of loneliness as part of human existence. Whatever kind of loneliness we are experiencing, it is within ourselves to search and find for the meaning of our connection and communion in relationship with others, with the self and with a higher spiritual existence. Sometimes a complete state of loneliness feels intensely painful, it is only by facing and bearing the pain that we find our deepest selves. This book will be a deep source of understanding and comfort to the Christian world and their relationship with God.
